SENSATIONAL CHARGES MADE BY M'CORMICK

LAYS RESPONSIBILITY OF ATTEMPT UPON ROOSEVELT'S LIFE UPON TAFT'S SECRETARY

HE USES EPITHETS

"Liars" and "Character Assassins" Terms Used By Bull Moose Leader Before Senate Committee

FURTHER TESTIMONY ABOUT HARRIMAN FUND.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—Elmer E. Dover, secretary of the Republican National committee in 1904, placed in evidence today what he said was a list of contributions to the committee that year, given by the late Cornelius N. Bliss. It itemized contributions by E. H. Harrman, $100,000; H. H. R., $100,000, J. P. Morgan & Company, $150,000; George J. Gould, $100,000 and many others.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Medill McCormick of Chicago stirred up a sensation before the Clapp committee today when he read a prepared statement touching upon the attempted assassination of Colonel Roosevelt, declaring it had been incited by "falsehoods of character assassins and liars like Charles D. Hilles."

"It is difficult for an ordinary man in the compass of ordinary language to compete with the testimony of the character-assassins and liars like Mr. Hilles—men who, by heir falsehoods incite weak minded men to actual assassination" was the passage which brought out a storm of protest from the committee, in which Chairman Clapp joined.

The statement was finally admitted to the record without reading. The reference to the attempt upon Roosevelt's life was incidental to Mr. McCormick's general statement of campaign expenses of the Progressive party in Illinois.

Mr. McCormick's statement showed he contributed about $28,500.

"During the whole campaign the Taft people assiduously circulated the lie that I am connected with the harvester trust," said Mr. McCormick, "I have never owned, and do not own a share of harvester stock.

Mr. McCombs has testified that Cyrus McCormick contributed to the Wilson campaign fund. Cyrus and Harold McCormick and the two Deering brothers represent overwhelmingly the largest stock in the harvester company. Both these McCormicks, one of whom is head of the trust, are for Wilson. Both the Deerings are against Col. Roosevelt, and I believe one of them is for Mr Taft. I demand that the directors of the harvester trust be called before this committee to testify what candidates they are supporting."

I demand that Mr. Hilles be recalled to appraise the money value of the North Carolina postmastership help up by Mr. Taft.

"Governor Wilson has stated that the steel trust is back of Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy. I demand that the governor give evidence as to the truth of this charge.

Roosevelt Had Good Rest.

By Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Last night brought Col. Roosevelt more sleep than he has had since he was wounded. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night he dropped the book he had been reading, Mrs Roosevelt retired to her room, the lights were extinguished and he fell asleep not to awaken until 4:30 this morning, when his clinical record was taken for the only time during the night.

The colonel felt fine this morning He showed in every way His color was good, his eyes bright and his manner animated.

Authorities Taking No Chances.

By Associated Press

Chicago, Oct 18.—Twenty five policemen escorted Governor Hiram W. Johnson today from the railway station to his hotel The large guard was ordered by Chief of Police McWeeney as a result of the attempt to assassinate Colonel Roosevelt The chief said no chance would be taken of a similar attack on the colonel's running mate.

"Keep the fight going full blast, Johnson; don't let our boys slack up because I can't be with them for a few days. Tell the people you speak to, I wish I could be out there working with you myself, and I certainly will be as soon as my doctors will let me."

This was Col. Roosevelt's parting injunction to Gov. Hiram Johnson of California, who visited him today.

Will Leave Hospital Monday or Tuesday.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Former president Roosevelt will leave Chicago for Oyster Bay on Monday or Tuesday of next week, according to plans this afternoon.

WANTED TO GET RID OF BECKER

DEFENDANT'S ATTORNEY SAYS GUN MEN CONSPIRED TO KILL BECKER AS WELL AS ROSENTHAL

BECKER INNOCENT?

Police Lieutenant Hated By Gangsters as Fiercely as They Hated Rosenthal is Claim

By Associated Press

New York, Oct. 18.—Police Lieut. Charles Becker's defense to the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, is that Rosenthal was murdered at the behest of other gamblers, who hated him as a meddler and informer to the police.

John Hart, Becker's lawyer, presenting his case to the jury, said he would prove Becker "not only not guilty, but absolutely innocent"

"We will prove," Mr Hart said, "that Webber, Rose, Vallon and Schepps conspired independently of Becker and with independent motives to murder Rosenthal after Rosenthal was murdered, they conspired to get rid of Becker, whom with Rosenthal they hated the most of any two men in the world."

As to the Jack Rose, Mr. Hart declared the defense expected to prove he had lied on the stand in almost every particular"

Handcuffed Gangmen Attack Zelig's Slayer.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 18.—The story of a sharp fight on the Bridge of Sighs yesterday in which "Red Phil" Davidson, slayer of Jack Zelig, the gang-leader was set upon and beaten by four gunmen indicted for shooting Herman Rosenthal, was revealed today.

"The gunmen, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood, Dago Frank and Whitey Lewis hand-cuffed to deputies were os their way back to the Tombs from the court room where Police Lieutenant Charles Becker is on trial. "Red Phil" similarly manealed was on his way to the building to plead to the indictment charging him with Zelig's murder.

Immediately the gunmen dragging their keeper with them by concerted action, made for Zelig's slayer and before the astonished deputies could recover themselves, the gunmen had kicked and beaten Davidson until he was shouting for mercy.

Direct Wire Into Times Office For Election Returns

The Times has completed arrangements whereby it will receive on the night of November 5th returns from the presidential and state elections throughout the country These returns will be received over a wire running directly into The Times office and will enable Wichitans to have as complete and prompt a service as the people of New York or any other city in the country.

These returns will be announced by stereopticon or megaphone as rapidly as received and by nine or ten o'clock the people of Wichita Falls should know pretty well who is going to be their next president and also the results in many of the gubernatorial contests

This service will cost a considerable sum from which The Times will receive no direct returns but it is the policy of the paper on occasions of this character to give the best to be had without regard to the cost.

HIS SACRIFICE COST HIS LIFE

NEWSBOY WHO GAVE LIMB TO SAVE LIFE OF BURNED GIRL DIES IN HOSPITAL

GIRL HAS RECOVERED

"I Guess I Turned Out to Be Some Good After All" Said Hero as He Lay Dying

By Associated Press

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—"I guess I turned out to be some good after all," said Bill Rugh this morning. Then he turned his face to the wall and died.

It was Rugh who a few days ago submitted to the removal of a withered leg that material might be provided for a skin grafting operation that saved the life of a young woman he had never seen. Physicians said pneumonia was the cause of Rugh's death, but the ailment resulted directly from his self-sacrifice, due to irritation of the lungs caused by ether administered when his leg was amputated.

Hugh had no relatives, and since coming to Gary a tramp several years ago, had made his living selling newspapers on the street.

The girl, Miss Ethel Smith, had been horribly burned in a motorcycle accident. It is just two days since her recovery sufficiently to permit her removal from the hospital in which Rugh died.

By Associated Press

Austin, Texas, Oct. 18.—Statistician M. J. Clancy of the Department of Public Instruction has completed a report showing that on September 1, 1912, there were 1,017,133 children in Texas of scholastic age. That is between the ages of seven and seventeen. This is the final census for the year.

NEWS FROM OIL FIELDS

H. L. Sturm, a drilling contractor has filed suit against the Southwestern Oil and Gas Co. for debt and attachment. Montgomery and Britain are attorneys for the plaintiff The Southwestern Co is operating at Electra.

The drilling in of the Corsicana's Embry No. 1 at Burkburnett has been delayed by a fire which destroped the derrick and rig yesterday. The work of rebuilding started at once and a new derrick will be completed very shortly The tools were saved. The fire is supposed to have started from some of the fuel oil. It had been planned to drill this well in today, but the fire will cause a delay of a week or more

Some of the local talent departed hurriedly for Duncan, Oklahoma, yesterday upon receipt of a report that a 20 barrel well had been brought in at 475 feet in that vicinity Nothing had been heard from them this morning and it is not known what basis there is for the Duncan excitement

M Sweeney, a driller employed by H L Sturm near Electra, sustained serious injuries yesterday afternoon when he was caught in some of the machinery rig His scalp was badly torn, it being necessary to take fifty-two stitches He was brought to the Wichita Sanitarium, where he was reported resting easy this morning

A number of the unmarried oil men, tired of hotel existence, are planning to rent a house here, hire a chef and "keep bach" with all the comforts of home.

The Montenegrins pursued them and took a number of prisoners and three field guns.

Germany's Neutrality Requested.

By Associated Press

Berlin, Oct. 18.—Germany's benevolent neutrality during the Balkan war was requested last evening by the Bulgarian, Servian and Greek ministers here, who presented a circular note to Foreign Minister Waechter, announcing their governments had declared war on Turkey.

Complete Accord of Powers Urged

Paris, Oct. 18.—Now that war in the Balkans has formally begun, the French press insists upon the necessity of complete accord among the European powers. The fear is expressed that should covetousness and antagonism develop among the nations of Europe from the opportunities arising out of the trouble, the world may see the bloodiest war in history.

Local Party Sailed Monday.

The Wichita Falls Greeks who left this city last week have sailed for Greece, leaving New York City Monday. Peter Fell of this city was placed in command of a party of 150 of his countrymen for the homeward voyage and all expect to get actively into the fighting immediately upon their arrival, since Greece has declared war.

OIL LAND TRACT IN CONTROVERSY

MISTAKE OF STATE OFFICIALS A THIRD OF CENTURY AGO MAY INVALIDATE TITLE

SURVEY MADE IN 1874

Is Alleged Invalid Because of Error and Austin Parties Have Asked for Patent

Because of some state official's mistake, a third of a century ago, about 700 acres near Electra, near the oil field, may revert to the ownership of the state school fund leaving the present "owners" without title. Much of the land in question has been leased by oil companies and nearly all of it has been in cultivation for many years.

John and Frank Maddox of Austin, land agents, discovered the 30 year old mistake and have made application to the general land office to buy the land in question It is described at school land survey No. 1, G C & S. F. abstract 3,526 and school land survey No. 14 B. S. & F abstract 1779.

The land is about two and a half miles east of Electra and the present "owners" include Mrs. Grace Jennings, John T. Granger, the Bywaters estate, J. H. Marriott, F L Powell, W. E Crow, R. E. Meyer and John Anderson. Tracts in the disputed territory have been leased by the Guffey, Producers, Corsicana and several other oil companies.

The alleged error [illegible] tion was made November 1 [illegible] en the land was surveye[illegible] of the Jack Land [illegible] county was then p[illegible] the C[illegible] land district, and it is [illegible] that the 1874 survey, known as the S. A & M. G. No 1 and 2, was never valid, for that reason. In Febuary 23, 1886 the survey was passed as correct and the land was patented to Charles E. Williams.

In 1878, the same land was surveyed by the surveyor of the Clay land district, which included Wichita county and it is claimed that this survey vested title in the school fund and Maddox Brothers, by making application to purchase it, have the "first call" on the land office. They claim that the patent to Williams was invalid because it was based on an illegal survey.

Because of the survey of 1874 the Williams patent and the subsequent conveyances have been considered regular and the application to purchase by Maddox Brothers came as a distinct shock to the present occupants of the land, also to the oil companies who had leased sections of it.

John Maddox of Austin, was in the city yesterday and when asked for a statement regarding the matter gave the following memoranda on the surveys:

"S. A. & M. G. 1 and 2 for 640 acres each purported to have been surveyed Nov 18, 1874 by W. A. Benson, surveyor of Jack Land district, while Wichita county was in Clay land district. Feb. 23, 1886, S. A. & M. G. 1 was passed by draftsman Schutsy as correct and Feb. 26, 1886 it was patented to Charles E Williams, assignee S. A. & M. G. 1 was never a valid survey because the Jack district surveyor could not make a legal survey in Clay land district. The survey of B. S. & F. 14 and G. C. & S. F. 10 appropriated the land and vested it in the school fund and it could not be divested by the mistake of the land office in issuing the patent on an illegal survey"

LARGE DELEGATION FOR DALLAS TRIP

Number, However, is Still Short of the Desired Representation Needed

More and more Wichitans are enlisting in the trade trip to Dallas next Tuesday and while the number is still far short of a sufficient representation, this city will have a large delegation on hand A number who expect to visit the fair previous to the excursion have promised to meet the train when it reaches Dallas and join in the parade and demonstration.

All who expect to be on the special train are requested to notify the Young Men's Progressive League at the earliest possible opportunity.

DEPUTIES BITTERLY ASSAIL PRES. MADERO

ASSAULT ON COLONEL DEPLORED BY WILSON

Democratic Candidate Deplores Use of Violence to Interrupt Course of Politics

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 18.—My thought is constantly of that gallant gentleman lying in the hospital at Chicago"

With this sentiment running through his speeches, Gov Woodrow Wilson toured Delaware deploring the assault on Col. Roosevelt and deprecating the use of violence to interrupt the course of politics The Democratic nominee devoted his argument mostly to State issues in Delaware. He omitted mention of the Progressive party and when he discussed National questions, attacked the administration of President Taft, declaring there was prosperity enough for those at the top, but that it had not "percolated through the rank and file of the people."

The Governor made four speeches, appeared before cheering throngs in nearly a dozen towns and closed the day with a big street parade and meeting at Wilmington.

Urging Delaware to "join the procession of progressive States," Gov Wilson declared in his speeches that it was "dangerous to block the progress of reform in America" and that the "standpat dam which is the only thing that holds back the popular forces will presently break"

"I do not predict trouble in the United States," he said. "I rejoice to believe that America is singularly a self-possessed Nation. It is averse to making so much violent disorder. I believe that part of the sadness we now suffer from because of that atrocious assault upon Mr. Roosevelt is a feeling that there is anybody in the United States who would dare interrupt the orderly course of politics and the public affairs of this country by the violence of his own hand. We deeply resent it. We resent the thought that there should be any citizen of the United States that sho...

WICHITA FALLS BROOMS WIN FIRST PRIZE

Exhibit of Wichita Falls Broom Manufacturing Best at The State Fair

The first premium for brooms at the State Fair at Dallas was awarded yesterday to the Wichita Broom Company on one dozen "Big Star" brooms which the company had on display in the Wichita county exhibit

Mr. Noble was advised of the award this morning and is naturally very proud of the showing which the products of the local factory made. There are several other broom factories in Texas which were represented at the Fair, but the local concern's output topped them all.

BELIEVES PRESIDENT TAFT WILL CARRY WASHINGTON.

N. W. Fairchild, brother of Co ity Superintendent H A Fairchild, who has been here several days visiting his brother on his return to Dallas, after an extended trip in the northwest, says he failed to find as much Roosevelt sentiment in that section as has been reported. He gives it as his opinion that Taft will carry the State of Washington.

He spent some time at Seattle and says the Taft sentiment greatly predominates there Roosevelt's recent visit there he said, did the Colonel more harm than good. Roosevelt did not like some of the arrangements made for his speakings and threatened not to speak at all unless they were changed His action disgusted the Bull Moose leaders and many of his supporters

A poll of the votes on the train on which Mr Fairchild rode through Montana was taken showing the sentiment evenly divided between Taft and Wilson with Roosevelt less than either However Mr Fairchild said he did not believe this poll reflected the true sentiment in Montana which he believed would give its vote for Roosevelt.

Mr Fairchild found the Socialists very strong in Seattle and Portland and believes there will be a strong Socialist vote in those two cities and in other important cities in the Northwest.

DEBATE VIOLENT

Proposal to Demand Resignation of Cabinet Voted Down Last Night, However

By Associated Press

Mexico City, Oct. 18.—The Chamber of Deputies last night voted down the resolution introduced by opposition deputies Wednesday night, demanding the resignation of the cabinet.

A counter-proposal extending a vote of confidence in the Madero government resulted in violent debate which continued for seevral hours. Many of the deputies bitterly assailed Madero and his administration, accusing them of failure to comply with "the promises of the revolution" embodied in the plan of San Luis Potosi.

Port of Vera Cruz Closed.

By Associated Press

Galveston, Texas, Oct. 18.—Official notification that the port of Vera Cruz, Mexico, had been closed by the Mexican government was received today by the Mexican consul at this port. This means no more vessels will be cleared from Vera Cruz until further notice, nor will foreign vessels be permitted there.

FOUR MORE DOLLARS FOR WILSON FUND

Contributions Still $120 Short of Amount Epected From Wichita County Democrats

So far there have been four responses to the find appeal for contributions to the Wilson campaign fund published in yesterday's Times. The fund at noon today totalled $180.50. Three dollars of this amount was given to W. J. Bullock, secretary of the local Wilson club and a dollar was brought to The Times office.

Wichita county is still $120 short of the amount which it was depended upon by National Committeeman Sells to subscribe and the need of money for the legitimate and necessary expenses of the campaign is very urgent. As announced yesterday we will hold the lists open for contributions until Monday afternoon and urge all loyal Democrats to be represented in the righteous cause.

The standing of the fund at noon today was as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$176.50
A. D. Magner	1.00
J. K. Roach	1.00
H. P. Hodges	1.00
Favorite Shoe Store	1.00
Total	$180.50

BURGLAR ALARM GOING BUT NO BURGLAR.

Pedestrians in the vicinity of the City National Bank this morning were put on the alert by the sounding of the burglar alarm gong at the bank, but upon investigation it was found that no burglary was being attempted

The massive vault of this bank has a double lining of steel that is constantly charged with electricity and any penetration of the walls will set off the alarm

The dial on the vault door is so connected that if there is a failure to lock the door the alarm will be sounded The alarm will also sound if the dial is moved between the hour of closing and the hour set for opening

There are also several daylight foot alarm buttons in the vicinity of the vault and about the bank The janitor this morning accidently touched one of these buttons with his mop and set the alarm going.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING IN SWITZERLAND

VILLAGE OF ST MORITZ

THE world-over Alpine societies have prepared the itineraries for the year and this article will have reference to some of the more important projects outlined by the various sections of the great Swiss Alpine club, writes John Ritchie, Jr. in the Boston Transcript.

The homes of its many sections are in the midst of the snowy mountains and with important peaks within easy striking distance and a wealth of guides professional and amateur, to lead the parties and three-quarters of a hundred club huts and hotels in which the members have some matters in the way of precedence there is little wonder that not less than four or five hundred ascents are planned for the current year. Each one of the sixty or sixty-five sections has its own itinerary, some of them, the least ambitious with half a dozen trips planned, while the most important ones have in general a trip in each month of the year.

Bachtel and Berne are the sections that this year present the most imposing outlinings of the trips, the latter with no less than 17 in its itinerary and the former with 14 two of the peaks at 8,000 feet five others above 9,500 and one of these the Wetterhorn rising to above 12,000 feet altitude. The Berne section began its walks with a ski tour in January to the Abendberg and a month later to Selibuhl. The March outing was to Hochwacht above the Langenthal and a fortnight ago there was a climb to Belchlon.

High Climbing in June

May has three items on the list. Sommerau in the westerly extension of the Jura mountains not far from Basle on May 12, four days later a joint meeting with the clubs of central Switzerland in the Oberland and towards the end of the month May 26-27 a Whitsunday trip in the Jura in the vicinity of Doubs.

In June the higher climbing begins with the Dent de Brenlaire (7,743 feet) among the northern foothills of the Bernese Oberland. July, August and September have two ascents each early in the first named month the Suleck (8,013 feet) in the ranges to the west of Lauterbrunnen while July 20-21 will be devoted to the ascent of the Doldenhorn (nearly 12,000 feet) in the Kander region. The early August trip 2-4 will be to Monte Rosa and in the middle of the month to the Hangendleschethorn. September will open with a joint excursion of this section and that of Basle to the Chasseral (5,800 feet) and October, November and December will have each of them a trip to some less important mountain top.

The Bachtel section began its good work for the year on January 7 with a reunion with neighboring sections on the Bachtel, one of the minor elevations of less than 4,000 feet overlooking the lake of Zurich and in February there were ski tours to neighboring heights. On May 27 there will be a family party to a lesser peak near the lake of Zurich and in June the heavier work begins June 2 or 9 will be the Stockphrisen (7,900) and June 23 or 30 the trip will be to the Clariden ock (10,700 feet) in the ranges just south of the lake of Lucerne. Piz Rotondo a couple of hundred feet lower, one of the St. Gothard mountains is the task for July while within the first two weeks of August the Wetterhorn at above 12,000 and Glarnisch are alternatives, the club uniting again on August 18 or 25 on the Piz Platta above 11,000 feet in the Splugen region. September and the three following months offer less important climbs being respectively Hochwang, Kojenstock, Regelstein and Kizel, the latter of the height of one of the Sardwich peaks in the White mountains and offering no extended view and being out half an hour above a comfortable inn suggests rather the sports of the ski than real Alpine work.

Joint Trips Planned

These two itineraries may serve as a sample to show the kind of mountain climbing it is that forms the summer amusement of so many of the Swiss club. There is a continual setting forth of excursion parties, largely over Sundays, in every part of the country, the comparative smallness of Switzerland giving to every club the opportunity to carry its climbing into any part of the mountains and affording the chances of a number of joint trips.

There are a number of joint trips, the clubs of central Switzerland forming one group in the Oberland and another gathering being of the eastern sections. Section Aarau has in its itinerary Todi, Diablerets, Monch and Urbiolet, each with a trip in which the women are to join on November 3 at Zeglingen which will be an excursion with the Lindenberg section. The Basle is to have July 5-7 a three-day climb in the Goschenen mountains, two nights in huts, one of them the Trifft cabin with intervening climbs to the Sustenhorn (11,500 feet) and the Thieralplistock, coming down to Meiringen. The Blumisalp section will join with Oberland sections in a meeting at Interlaken on May 16 and in August will ascend the always difficult Finsteraarhorn, the highest peak in its district. The Chaux-de-Fonds section, the seat of which is but a short distance from Lake Neuchatel in the very heart of the Juras has a program for the year of no less than 25 trips largely in its own territory. The Wildstrubel, the Aiguille du Tacul in the Chamonix district, the Grande Fourche, a Velan are in its list of the higher and more distant summer trips. The Grindelwald section as might be expected from its remarkable location has a series of important outings in which the Jungfrau railway is an important factor. The members will attend the general meeting in Interlaken in May. In June its trip will be to the Goggi hut along the plateau of the Monch and in July from the Jungfraujoch station down the great Aletsch glacier to the Concordia hut returning by the way of the Finsteraarhorn.

Record in Frugality

A man named Joseph Spitzberger, who died in a Vienna hospital recently left a fortune of over $600,000 to the Jewish community for the erection of a children's hospital. Spitzberger was formerly the cashier at a mill. He acquired his wealth by the utmost parsimony. He lived in a small garret which was never heated or lighted as he always went to bed at dusk. His meals were stale bread and tea without sugar, eggs and fruit being rare luxuries. He never smoked nor abstained from drinking wine or beer. He never rode in a tramcar or made excursions and he never saw the inside of a theater. His greatest parsimony probably was that he never bought a newspaper but got his news by reading the sheets posted outside the newspaper offices. He mended his shabby second hand clothes himself and was his own laundress. Thus he managed to capitalize almost the whole of his income and increased his capital by successful speculations. Even when wealthy he continued to lead the same frugal life never spending a farthing on amusement or things which he considered unnecessary.

Mystery of the Loco Weed

The Department of Agriculture has been conducting a most remarkable series of investigations of the strangest and most dreaded plant in America—the poison loco weed of the western stock ranges which has killed millions of cattle, sheep and horses and whose deadly effects scientists have been trying to contract for more than 30 years.

Determined to find if possible the cause of the loco weed's deadliness an expert in poisonous plant investigations of the bureau of animal industry has been located with assistants at Hugo, Colo., engaged in an exhaustive investigation. He has ascertained that it is possible to prevent the ravages of loco in the cases are taken in hand for treatment in time. Stock so cured will be immune from loco weed thereafter in most cases. Even though they may eat the loco weed again they succumb to its effects much more slowly. The expert has also found that the common rattle weed or white loco, which has been regarded as comparatively harmless, is fully as virulent as the purple loco—a fact which may aid materially in preventing the ravages of the dread disease among cattle.

The weed which has brought ruin to many stockmen and which contributes not a little to the nation's beef problem is particularly common on the vast cattle ranges of the west. It is a drouth resisting plant, which intensifies its deadly effect. It grows in bush form a foot high and from one to two feet in diameter. The leaflets are broad and green and the plant with its flowers of white or purple makes a pretty effect on the prairie. In times of drouth when other plants wither and die the loco weed flourishes greener than ever. Usually cattle will avoid the weed when there is plenty of other food but when food is scarce owing to lack of rain they begin to nibble the loco. At first they consume it in small quantities as their natural inclination is to reject the loco as food. But soon the taste is acquired and then the stock will eat it in preference to anything else.

Fry Chicken in Cottolene

The best fried chicken you ever ate can be made with Cottolene.

Cottolene can be heated to a much higher temperature than either butter or lard, without burning. It fries so quickly that little of the fat is absorbed, preventing the food being greasy. For this reason, Cottolene-fried food is more healthful than food fried in butter or lard.

Cottolene is more economical than lard—goes one-third farther; costs very much less than butter.

EEL WITH RATTLES CATFISH THAT BARKED

Scott Thomas while fishing in the Spiranka in Oklahoma caught an eel on which was attached seventeen rattles and a button. The eel is on exhibition in the front window of a local drug store.

Thomas relates another experience more remarkable than the catching of the eel. This happened on Flour Mill Creek. Fish were biting briskly when suddenly there was a great commotion among the perch and croppies. There was a jerk on Scott's line. When he pulled in a peculiar gray catfish struck the bank at his feet. Thomas hair stood up when the catfish began barking like a small dog at him. Quanah Tribune Chief.

Passing of the Lumberjack

LOGS IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

EVERY frontier region has its peculiar characters On the plains the—cowboys; in the mining regions, the miners, and in the timber regions, the lumber jack While the work of the lumber jack is not so spectacular as the 'round up" and 'broncho busting of the cowboy, he is an interesting and picturesque character who is rapidly disappearing with the vanishing of our forests In the time of his glory he is the fellow well met who has labored all winter in a lumber camp, saved a few hundred dollars gone to the city in the spring and perhaps in less than 48 hours after landing is minus his roll of bills and has nothing to show for it except a head ache and a very indistinct recollection how he came by that With the lumber jack will go the lumber camp the camp cook," the flunkey,' the boss" and other worthies

From Michigan to the Pacific coast are found the lumber camps, employing at seasons of the year thousands of men These lumber camps small communities in themselves, have their unwritten laws and regulations differing more or less in the several states

A few years ago the writer with a crew of men was sent out early one fall to a lumber camp to cut basswood for a bedding firm The cook with a few of the lumber jacks had remained in camp during the summer to load logs, but all the formal customs of the camp were preserved We looked upon this excursion into the woods for the purpose of cutting wood as a sort of late summer vacation and were accordingly in high spirits When the horn blew for the first meal we rushed boisterously into the cook s shanty and seating ourselves at the table began to talk and joke The lumber jacks looked at us with a sort of awe and then glanced at the cook

Cook's Commands Obeyed.

"No talking at the table," the cook fiercely called out as he glared upon us This command, so sudden and unusual, was strictly obeyed during the meal At first we took it to be a rebuke for our noisy way of entering the cook shanty but after the meal was over we were informed that talking at the table was a serious breach of the regulations and that we had better abide by the rule

The privileged character in camp is the cook Within his domain his authority is supreme The saying that the way to reach a man s heart is through his stomach holds good in the lumber camp and a cook can make or mar the efficiency of a crew of men by the quality of his cooking

In Wisconsin and certain parts of Minnesota the lumber jacks enter the cook shanty' at meal times with a sort of reverence Next to the 'boss' shanty" it is the holy of holies When the door is reached all conversation ceases and the men silently file in and take their places The head of the table is always reserved for the boss Not a word is spoken at meal time except when victuals are asked for Meal time instead of being a social hour as it is in society is with the lumber jacks a time of silence if not of meditation The origin of this rule has been variously explained The most plausible explanation is that the lumber jacks might inadvertently drop some remark reflecting upon the cooking and thus insult the dignity of the cook

In Washington, at least in some of the camps no such rule exists At meal time the men indulge in all kinds of rallieries, not even excepting the cook.

Where They Sleep

In all camps the meal hours are announced by blowing a horn or more generally by striking a large triangle made especially for this purpose At the sign the camp swarms with men rushing from the bunk houses to the cook shanty

The lumber jacks sleep in bunk houses During the evening they sit along their bunks smoking and conversing Sometimes a boxing or wrestling match is arranged By nine o clock all lights are out and the man who has the temerity to keep his light burning after that hour will be lucky if some boots or socks do not find their way in his direction

The bunk houses are sometimes models of cleanliness but the lumber jack is like average humanity and if no external influence is brought to bear upon him he does not make much of an effort to keep himself clean Unless the management makes rules or the flunkey carefully attends to his duties in keeping things clean, the bunk houses are apt to become filthy

Sunday is wash day, and if a stream or river is at hand the lumber jacks can be seen lined up along the bank holding up" In this operation they violate the rules of the house wife when she does her laundry Instead of rubbing the clothes and trying to free them from dirt first they boil them at once The result is that though the clothes may be clean they certainly do not look it Boiling the clothes has at least one good effect It annihilates any vermin that may be in them

When spring comes and the snow disappears the camp breaks up Woe to the town that in the early days was located near a lumber camp The lumber jacks released from all restraint, swooped down upon the town and it was a wild time for a while With the advent of civilization and law and order these raids of the lumber jack have become a thing of the past Time has had its mollifying influence upon the lumber jack, seasoning him and making him more law abiding but he is still to a great extent the free shiftless being who, when he comes to the city, is the victim of the saloon keeper and the crook

When the last million barrels of cement purchased shall have been used in the construction of the Panama canal the amount so employed will have reached a total of 2,000,000,000 pounds.

TRACED TO RACING STABLES

Slang Phrase, "Getting His Goat," So Popular Now, Had Origin in Actual Occurrence.

Unlike many other vivid or picturesque slang expressions, which enrich and enliven the English language, but the source of which is either obscure or totally unknown, the origin of the phrase to get his goat, can fortunately be traced Until it came into popular use about half a dozen years ago, the phrase was confined to racing stables and to running horses and was part of the language of the racetrack

It was formerly the rather widespread custom among owners of racing stock to keep a goat in the same stall with a horse, either from the superstitious belief in mascots or from the more scientific belief that the goat imparted some of his strength or magnetism to the horse Ardent friendships have been known to spring up between goats and horses living thus in close intimacy and sleeping together

When a horse that had the companionship of a goat chanced to win the jockeys would attribute his success to the influence of the goat, and it happened more than once that a stable boy would 'get the goat of the winning horse by entering the stable surreptitiously at night and taking the animal to the stall of his own favorite If the horse that was deprived of his goat friend should lose the next day and the other horse should win, that would of course strengthen the belief in the efficacy of the goat

The practice of relying on goats to help a horse win a race is said to be dying out but it has left behind one of the most expressive phrases which seems destined ultimately to become as respectable as any English idiom

raise His hand against the [illegible] of the first [illegible] mention of public offices

I came out to fulfill the engagements of this week with every [illegible] reluctance because my [illegible] is certainly of that gallant [illegible] in being in a hospital at Chicago Mr Roosevelt did a vast deal to wake the country up to the problems that now have to be settled and that he might have been stayed in his attempts to discuss the settlement of those questions by a kind of violence is a thing which every American must deeply deplore and feel ashamed for

At the same time there are these questions to be settled There is the great life of the country to go on and we can not afford to have it go on without guidance

My indictment against the Republican administrations of the past is that under them we have gone no whither we have drifted We have been without pilots we have been without charts No man has laid down any intelligible course and in these latter years we have been absolutely paralyzed A Democratic House a Senate mixed of Democrats and Republicans and near Republicans men who had revolted against the policy of the Republican party and were coming very slowly around to the position which their Democratic colleagues had long occupied and even a President unwilling to see [illegible] House when they could [illegible] occasions unite accomplish [illegible] change the existing [illegible] a President who, though he had condemned one of the most conspicuous schedules of the present tariff, was not willing that the Congress should change it but only willing that it should be changed under the advice of a board of his own appointment, a singular situation my fellow citizens, a situation where the President withholds his assent from the very kind of reform the very specific reform which not in its details but in its general purpose he had himself indorsed showing that what you are asking to do, in being asked to vote for a Republican administration, is one or the other of two things

"You are either asked to drift under no guidance at all or you are asked to stand still absolutely America can not stand still, whether she could afford to or not

"Don't you catch the sound of the wind in the air, don't you hear the murmurs of the great multitudes of men who say prosperity? Who is enjoying prosperity? The blessing has not reached us We do not find our wages going up, we find it almost impossible to pay our bills and when our wages do occasionally go up the prices go higher and the wages can not keep up with the prices Prosperity! Yes on the part of men who are reaping the harvest at the top but no much of it percolates to us"

Heading an illuminated parade Gov Wilson was given a great reception in the streets here last night He addressed a big crowd at a theatre as well as an overflow meeting and was greeted with loud cheers everywhere

The Governor referred in his speeches to Republican billboard advertisements showing a picture of President Taft and surrounded with campaign arguments

One phrase in that advertisement sticks in my memory ' said the Governor, 'that is 'It is better to be safe than sorry' It is also better to hug a base than to steal it But I would rather be courageous than sorry I would rather espouse a great cause and lose than to be ashamed to espouse any cause at all; I would rather risk my fortune than sell my liberty"

The Governor talked at length on progressive principles 'I take my hat off to Bob La Follette" he said 'He has never taken his eye for a single moment from the goal of the true progressive, in spite of every temptation'

Entered at the Postoffice at Wichita Falls as second class mail matter

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 18, 1912.

503 UNION LABEL 503

Another railroad into Wichita Falls would help things along wonderfully and the indications are that she can get this new road by making the proper effort.

Up to the present time the various gins in Wichita County have turned out in the neighborhood of 4000 bales of cotton, which is about equal to the total of last year. Those who are in a position to judge the situation estimate that the total for this year will be right at 15,000 bales.

The postmaster general has ruled that it was optional with postmasters in cities where the offices are held open for the transmission of mails as to whether they should put in the boxes all first-class mail. The Times is glad that the department has made such a ruling. There are many people perhaps more than 90 per cent, who such a ruling. There are many people would like to receive their letter mail on Sundays.

"I begged Johnson to give my daughter up, but he said he would not and jeered in my face." That is the story the mother of 17-year-old Lucile Cameron told the Chicago police the other day, when she endeavored to get them to assist her in getting her daughter from under the influence of the negro pugilist But the girl declared that she loved the negro and wanted to marry him, and under the laws of that state such marriages are sanctioned. It is just such incidents as this that makes us glad that we are citizens of a state that has no such laws

The progressive city of Waco is getting ready to adopt a new charter, and for that purpose a committee of fifteen citizens, consisting of all classes has been appointed to draft the charter. In writing about this matter the Waco Times-Herald makes some good suggestions, among which is that the new charter provide for the election of a mayor and four commissioners and that they be elected for a term of four years, the mayor's salary to be fixed at $300 per year, and that of the commissioners at $150 per year each, with the provision that neither the mayor or the commissioners shall be required to perform any detail work, but employ a competent head for each department of the city government, and make the heads of each department of the government responsible for the acts of those under them.

The co-operation and support the Times said yesterday ought to be given the Farmers Union in its effort to better the condition of the farmers we find, has already been tendered by the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association This association at its recent meeting in Houston authorized the organization of a Farm Life Commission to study the needs and the best interests of the farmers and in the resolution providing for the organization of the commission it was specifically stated that the association should co-operate with the Farmers Union. Indeed we have it from private information that the Texas Farmers Union has been asked to name the man from among its members who shall be at the head of this commission, and also that several other members shall be named from the union membership With the farmers and the business men working together in full harmony the true possibilities of Texas should become realities.

WHY WE CALL IT FALL.

Although fall is an old provincial word of the English, it may said to be as expressive as any word we use for during the three months we assign to the season—September, October and November—the flowers fall in the garden, fruits fall in the orchard, nuts fall in the woods, rain falls from the clouds, the leaves fall everywhere and mercury begins to fall in the tube, while the sun falls away to the southward and night falls early Already the leaves of various colors are dotting the lawns and the foliage is visibly thinning on the trees and shrubs The short life of the leaf is ended it has served its purpose and now sinks away to renew the life of the soil over the roots of the trees or shrub In selecting shade trees or shrubs for the home grounds it is not good to choose those that their leaves fall early There are many varieties that contribute to the gorgeous coloring of the autumn landscape, with changes from shade of bronze to scarlet, from palest green to richest yellow, and among the handsomest are the American elm, the linden some ash trees the hard maple and the finer soft ones, the hickories and many other native trees that do well grown from the seed or transplanted—The Commoner

MISREPRESENTATION BY HIGH TARIFF INTERESTS

Austin Statesman.

The Taft forces have fallen back to the last ditch of Republicanism and are making their final stand there—the alleged blessings of the present high tariff system and the prediction of a business panic, if Mr. Taft is defeated and Governor Wilson is elected The argument is ancient and the prophecy is silly, but it is the only ammunition a discredited administration has left, and it must use that or die without even a last shot in self-defense

A desperate cause like Mr. Taft's can not afford to rest on facts or logic For this reason it seeks to ignore both, and is attempting to mislead the country by misrepresenting the Democratic tariff program and by misstating the facts of political and economic history.

The Democratic program is so definite, specific and reasonable that it has created no alarm and can create no alarm in the mind of anyone who gives the subject intelligent consideration. The tariff protected interests, which are probably financing the misrepresentations with which they are filling the newspapers, the magazines and even the street cars in the shape of paid advertisements, do not appeal to the intelligence. Their object is to protect their immense profits and to prolong their reign as special beneficiaries of the Government by frightening thoughtless people into believing that the retirement of Mr. Taft means a long period of panic and disaster. Unfortunately for them, the facts refuse to be suppressed, and Mr. Taft is likely to lose more than he will gain by a political cry which is obviously insincere and disingenuous A campaign that has been handicapped from the beginning by the burden of repudiated tariff pledges, and by charges of political theft and fraud by members of his own party, will gain no additional strength from a patently dishonest effort to deceive voters

These misstatements consist, first, in a suppression of the fact that the panics of 1873 and 1907 occurred under Republican Presidents and Republican high tariff laws

A third misrepresentation is made when it is suggested that a protective tariff costs each citizen only $3.46 a year That is, the Government raises only $213,000,000 annually by tariff duties, but the protected manufacturers pluck the unhappy consumer behind the high tariff wall at their sweet will and pleasure and make him pay many times what he should for his sugar, his shoes, his clothes, his blankets, his farming implements—in short, for nearly everything that he enters into the daily scheme of life

The Democratic program will not cripple a single industry nor lower the wages of a single laborer It will strengthen the whole business fabric by substituting fairness for unfairness, honesty for dishonesty and sincerity for insincerity in dealing with tariff problems. It will not be sweeping or reckless, but will proceed along the lines outlined in the Democratic platform so as to give relief to the consumer without injury to any legitimate business The only trouble with it is that it will consider the interests of the great masses of the people and remove some of the unnecessary burdens that have been put upon them by the Government favorites who have been making collossal fortunes through their power to tax the consumer as they please

WHITE ANTS DESTROY BOOKS

In India All Valuable Papers Are Kept in Dust Tight Cabinets to Protect Them.

London.—The ravages of the white ant among books and papers in India have become so serious that the government has appointed an entomologist, T B Fletcher, to make an exhaustive study of the insect There are it is stated, five kinds of insect that ruin office records in India, the white ant, fish bug, water bug, cockroach and borer There is no way of preventing ravages by these enemies except keeping all records in dust tight steel cabinets and bookcases The white ants reduce an entire book, binding and leaves, to dust, the fish bug eats holes in the records while the water bug and cockroach expend their energies on bindings The borer starts in at one side of a book and bores directly through coming out at the other side The white ant completely destroys any book it attacks.

AT RISK OF HIS LIFE

REV. DR. PALMORE VISITED THE TOMB OF AARON.

Mosque Is Nothing Much to See, but Religious Fanaticism of the Natives Makes the Journey One of Great Danger.

Rev. Dr. William B. Palmore of St. Louis, who has just completed a tour of Europe and the Orient, said that his most remarkable exploit was a recent nocturnal expedition at the risk of his life to the tomb on Mount Hor, in Arabia Petrea, which is revered by three religions as the burial place of Aaron, brother of Moses, and first high priest of the Hebrew theocracy.

Late on the last night of his stay in Petrea Dr. Palmore silently stole out of the city, attended by his guide and soldiers.

When the little party at last stood alone on the mountain top and saw the desert sleeping far below they found the mosque to be a ramshackle building of white stones rudely piled together and surmounted by a rounded dome. The guide without scruple applied his stolen key to the lock and the door swung open.

"I found myself in a chapel about 40x40 feet," says Dr. Palmore. "According to the Moslem custom, it contained neither seats nor altars. It was completely bare save that in the center stood a cenotaph, or empty sarcophagus, covered by a green cloth. Carved in stone was an inscription in Hebrew so nearly obliterated by time that I could not decipher it. I calculated that the inscription was more than 2,000 years old. There was also a legend carved on the cenotaph in modern Arabic.

"I had little time to waste, for I was confident that if the Arabs in the valley discovered my departure and traced me to the mosque they would kill me. In one corner I discovered a hole in the floor, revealing a flight of stairs cut in the rock and leading downward.

"Holding my candle aloft, I descended the steps and found found myself in an unlighted cave of no great size. Like the mosque, it was bare and rude. But across one end were stretched two chains like sentinels against intruders and behind them hung a tattered curtain.

"I stepped over the chains and swept the curtain aside. The sealed entrance to a natural vault was revealed and this vault was the tomb of Aaron."

There was little time for sacred reverie, for, if day broke before he descended the mountain, his errand might be detected and avenged by the Arabs of the valley. So Dr. Palmore, after touching the sealed vault reverently with his hand, ascended the stairs, passed through the mosque and stood again in the open air

His guide gravely locked the door and concealed the key once more in his garments. The party made its way safely back to Petra without discovery, and within a few hours was miles away on the return trip north.

Safeguarding Letters.

From the days of antiquity it has always been a problem unsolved how to insure the secrecy of letters. A Frenchman named Phlon claims, however, to have discovered the real method, which is as simple as the egg of Columbus. The invention is thus described: The envelope looks very like an ordinary one, but the tongue is in a kind of loop, prolonged so as to fit the gummed end of the upper right-hand corner, which is slit. The tongue is inserted, and further fixed by the stamp struck over it. The system is simplicity itself, and, except for ripping open the envelope or tearing off the stamp, it is impossible to get at the letter inside.

Her Dislike Too Vigorous.

A woman in an English country town took an unusual way of expressing her dislike of the pastor. While the congregation was standing, during the singing of an anthem, she rushed up the chancel steps and began throwing hymn books at the minister, and finally exclaimed: "Take him from the church!" The minister was greatly astonished, knowing nothing of the disorder until he was struck in the back. He thought a stone had fallen from the roof In court the woman evpressed regret.

Not a Strong Argument.

Said an advocate of woman suffrage during the recent campaign in California "A point upon which a great deal of weight has been placed is that women do not want the suffrage and that it would be cruel to impose it upon them The cry about cruelty to women reminds me of a dialogue that passed between Johnnie and his mother "Johnnie, your little sister has been hauling you on her sled for half an hour Why don't you get off and haul her?' 'Mamma,' said little Johnnie, 'I am afraid she will take cold'"

PROPER USE OF CASSEROLE

Should Always First Be Tempered—Sudden Changes of Temperature to Be Avoided.

Before using a casserole for the first time, it is well to temper it; this is best done by covering it with cold water, then letting the water come to the boiling point, remove from the fire, and let the casserole remain in the water until it is cold.

Under no circumstances let the casserole be put on the stove without water or fat in it, says the Indianapolis News. If this is done the dish will crack.

Avoid sudden changes of temperature with the casserole; that is, do not take it from the hot stove or oven and place it in cold water or in a wet sink; this will prove disastrous to the dish.

Casserole cooking requires only moderate heat; if something is being cooked in the casserole at the same time that intense heat is required for something else, take the precaution of setting the casserole in a pan of water.

If the cover of the casserole does not set very closely, thus allowing steam to escape too freely, it is well to spread a strip of cloth wet with a flour and water paste and press it over the joining of cover and casserole before setting the dish in the oven. When ready to serve, the strip is readily pulled off.

In cooking anything in a casserole, it is well to allow twice the time for cooking that would be required were the stew or vegetables or fruit cooked in the ordinary way.

TAKE UP ENGLISH DELICACY

Orange Marmalade Has Become Popular Dish in America—How It Should Be Served.

America has become addicted to the orange-marmalade habit. That which is bought, much of it shipped from over seas, is never quite so good as that which can be made at home. For every dozen thin skinned oranges allow three lemons, all the fruit being washed and sliced as thin as paper. Then cover it with water in the proportion of one and a half quarts of water to every quart of fruit, and allow it to stand over night. Next morning the mixture is cooked slowly for two hours, sometimes a little more. Sugar equal in amount to the cooked fruit is added and the cooking is resumed until the mixture jellies from a spoon, which will be in from a half to a full hour. There should be no guesswork in adding the sugar. Measure the cooked fruit carefully to get at the amount of sugar to be used.

Chicken Baked with Salt Pork.

Clean the required number of young chickens Cut them down through the backbone, open, and flatten breast with a cleaver In a large covered roasting pan lay several slices of salt pork. Place the chickens on these, skin side up Dredge with flour and lay several slices of very thin salt pork on top Add two cups of boiling water and bake slowly two hours, basting frequently and dredging very lightly with flour after each basting More broth may be added if necessary There should be at least eight bastings Place buttered toast on a platter, arrange chicken on it, garnish with parsley Thicken gravy with flour add one teaspoonful of butter and one cupful of rich cream, salt and pepper to taste, and pour over chicken.

Curry of Beef.

Cut up the meat in small pieces add two very finely chopped peeled onions, one teaspoon of curry powder one peeled and chopped apple, one-half teaspoon of sugar, a little lemon juice Add one teaspoon of flour, one half of a tumblerful of boiling milk and a banana and tomato if liked Mix together Place in the paper bag and then on broiler at once Allow 45 minutes in a hot oven Rice to be boiled and served separately if desired

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

WILLIAM DOCKWRA AND CHEAP POSTAGE.

By A. W. MACY.

Strange as it may seem, before 1680 it was impossible to mail a letter in the city of London without taking it to the general postoffice, in Lombard street. In that year William Dockwra, a merchant, put into operation a scheme for collecting and delivering letters in any part of London for one penny. He established a number of receiving offices in various parts of the city. The scheme worked very well; so well, in fact, that it provoked great hostility. The porters complained that it interfered with their interests, as it no doubt did, and tore down the placards announcing the scheme to the public. Some fanatics even denounced it as a popish plot. But it succeeded so well that it came near paying expenses the first year. Our present-day method of handling mail in large cities is not much, if any, better than that of Dockwra, and in one respect it is not as good, for he guaranteed to reimburse the sender when anything of value was lost while in the care of his employes.

CLIMB TACOMA PEAK

Five Men Make Discoveries in Rainier National Park.

Two Members of the Party Barely Miss Death on Rocks at the Bottom of Ice Slides—Crawl Over 17 Glaciers.

Tacoma, Wash.—Five mountain climbers, headed by Prof. J. B. Flett of the Tacoma high school, have completed an exploration trip around the peak of Mount Tacoma, in Rainier National park. Two of the climbers barely missed death on the rocks at the bottom of steep snow and ice slides. A hitherto unknown route around this, the most massive and highest mountain peak in the United States, was followed, and unmarked glaciers were crossed and unnamed peaks scaled. The complete circle of the mountain was made in seven days. Seventeen glaciers were crossed and the explorers dipped into almost impenetrable canyons and ascended almost perpendicular walls of snow and ice to cross ridges that before had been the awe of all mountain climbers.

In the party weree Prof. J. B. Flett, C. A. Barnes, Jr., mountain photographer; Percy Raleigh, J. H. Weer and Calvin Philips, Jr.

First, Philips, climbing up a 50 per cent. grade snow slope, slipped and slid downward with terrific speed toward huge jutting rocks and wide, open-mouthed crevasses in the packed ice. At the speed at which he was sliding, to have hit one of these rocks would have meant the breaking of every bone in his body. The crevasses were huge cracks of unknown depth in the packed ice, and to have fallen into one would have meant sure death. On the very brink of this danger Philips succeeded in so righting himself that he could gouge into the ice with his alpine stick, and thereby stop his flight.

Weer, on the second day out, lost his footing and slid 600 yards down a similar ice slope at the speed of a racing automobile. Big rocky crags jutted out at the bottom of the slope. All that saved him from dashing on these was the heavy pack on his back catching on some smaller rocks that barely showed above the surface of the ice. This broke his fall, righted him and by spreading out flat and digging into the ice he succeeded in saving himself from what would have been a horrible death.

Glaciers and peaks not shown on government and other maps of the mountain were carefully marked by Professor Flett on charts he carried with him. These charts, with suggestions of names for the uncharted glaciers and peaks, are now being carefully prepared for submission to the chief geographer, interior department, Washington.

ALIEN IS REFUSED PAPERS

Subject of German Emperor Finds Odd Angle in Naturalization Law.

Seattle, Wash.—Although Albert H. Young, a law student at the University of Washington, is a subject of the German emperor, he cannot become a citizen of the United States because his mother was Japanese. Such was the decision of United States District Judge W. E. Cushman. Young's father was a German who married a Japanese woman at Yokohama. Their child was born in that city, but on land under the protection of the German flag, making him a German. Young contended that as a German he was entitled to naturalization in the United States, but Naturalization Examiner John Speed Smith resisted his application under section 2,169 of the revised statutes, which provides that only aliens who are free white persons or who are of African nativity or descent may become naturalized.

Young maintained that he was entitled to be classed as "free white," but the court ruled that his mother having been a Japanese barred him from citizenship. Young has been a resident of this state since 1905.

FOREST HILL, the Magnificent Estate of John D. Rockefeller

The Rockefeller Mansion

A LARGE proportion of the reading public has been treated to something of a surprise in connection with the newspaper accounts of disturbances at the John D Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills near Tarrytown N Y The surprise came not so much from the rather sensational disturbances at the New York estate with its lurid tales of Black Hand plots as from the announcement that the richest man in the world pending the unsettled conditions at his eastern country seat, remains in seclusion at his magnificent estate at Cleveland

Outside of northern Ohio there was figuratively speaking a general rubbing of eyes on the part of the people who take more or less interest in the doings of the Standard Oil missionaire They had never heard most of them of this magnificent estate at Cleveland To be sure they were aware that John D alike to all the Rockefeller clan had come from the metropolis of the Buckeye State—that is, Cleveland was the base of operations from which he reached out for new worlds to conquer—but it was the general impression of most of these casual onlookers at current events that our wealthiest citizen had only a more or less common place city home in Cleveland

That impression was all very well as far as it went John D Rockefeller has a town house in Cleveland just as he has in New York City although he occupies the former much more seldom than he does the latter—sometimes no more than one day in a year But the Oil King has a second home at Cleveland and it is this remarkable, though comparatively little known habitation which has been thrust into the limelight by the suddenly perturbed conditions at Pocantico Hills Furthermore this unexploited Cleveland estate is pre-eminently the favorite residence of Mrs Rockefeller and Mr Rockefeller's preference for it is almost as strong as is that of his wife

Forest Hill this estate is named and the title is perhaps doubly appropriate, since Cleveland has long been known as the Forest City Forest Hill is unique among American residential properties Nowhere else in the length and breadth of our land can you find an estate of like magnitude set down in the midst of a populous and rapidly growing city Why this Rockefeller homestead—the richest man has always regarded it in that light—would if broken up into city lots be worth several million dollars taking no account at all of the present improvements Only a man with the limitless money resources of the long time head of the Standard Oil would be able to indulge a fad for a country place within reach of every city convenience yet affording such isolation that its occupant need never hear the whirr of the trolley cars the honk of the motors and the thousand and one noises incident to urban existence

But it is not for the sake of city conveniences in rural surroundings that John D Rockefeller maintains this perhaps the most valuable of all his residences Rather is it for the sake of old associations and the fact that it enables him to enjoy a summer and autumn climate—swept by Lake Erie breezes—that is much to his liking And of course Forest Hill was not a city oasis when Rockefeller acquired it Then it was suburban if not actually countrified Cleveland extending eastward within all but mushroom growth reached out to and has now all but surrounded Forest Hill with paved and thickly populated streets Yet thanks to nature's barriers rather than to human guards the Oil King and his family are able to obtain at this retreat a degree of rest and seclusion that would scarcely be considered possible when we take into consideration the fact that the front gate of the estate opens upon Euclid avenue—long renowned as a beautiful residential thoroughfare but in this age of the automobile known to fame as one of the busiest motor highways in America

As a visitor walks or drives through the Forest Hill estate he is impressed over and over again with the appropriateness of the name Nowhere in the United States can there be found more beautiful woodlands To be sure, it is nature with her hair combed to use a familiar term The trees display no dead or broken limbs and there is an absence of underbush so that the pedestrian may walk in peace and comfort in any section of the woods but on the other hand, nature has been, in so far possible, left to her own resources There are thickets that suggest the primeval forest and shadowy ravines with tumbling streams that savor of the wilderness, All this is in accord with the definite policy of John D Rockefeller Nature has been assisted wherever possible but never seriously interfered with Many of the foreigners who have been entertained at Forest Hill and who have come from countries where formal gardening is a fetish have marveled that the richest man in the world should not have utilized his wealth to create a masterpiece of English or Italian gardening at Forest Hill But Mr Rockefeller has remained unmoved by their arguments His gardners at the New York estate have been permitted to indulge in some frills of this kind, but at the Ohio place only the "American school" of landscape gardening has been tolerated

The Forest Hill estate is an oblong tract somewhat triangular in form The estate proper comprises 460 acres and the adjoining farm adds 200 acres to the total The property, in its greatest dimension, has a length of nearly two miles and more than two-thirds of the estate is heavily wooded and so rolling in character as to provide those deeply cut ravines that add so much to the picturesqueness of the place The estate is well fenced and there is a lodge at the main gate where a witty Irishman who has been in the service of Mr Rockefeller for more than a score of years scrutinizes the credentials of every visitor but there is little trespassing and there is no obstrusive cordon or armed guards such as are conspicuous at the New York estate where John D Rockefeller Jr is master in the absence of his father

As might be expected the roads at Forest Hill are a joy forever There is an aggregate of more than seven teen miles of roads on the estate—mostly stone ballast with gravel dressing—and there is nothing a board to surpass them for the comparatively light traffic for which they are designed But most of the Forest Hill roads are narrow and for this and other reasons the Standard Oil magnate will not permit automobiles other than his own to enter his grounds except on special occasions and by special permission John D Rockefeller is one of our rich men who has succumbed completely to the automobile hobby He owns several cars of various types has provided a neat and simple but commodious garage at Forest Hill and has accorded motoring a place second only to golf as his pet pastime but for all that he will not risk joyriding on his Cleveland estate and indeed [illegible] makes use of a motor hill [illegible] more than likely to destroy [illegible] and enter the grounds by the rear gate thus avoiding the network of private roads with their many sharp curves

Speaking of Mr Rockefeller's golfing proclivities it must be noted that a nine hole golf course is a feature of the Forest Hill estate And such a course as it is The richest man probably plays more golf at his Cleveland estate than at any other place—not excepting his annual winter sojourn at Augusta Ga and so the links must be kept in perfect condition, despite the fact that a suitably sum small fortune was spent on this golf course only this past spring At each tee hundreds of dollars have been expended in installing a system of drainage that has yielded a hard firm turf that is a delight to every golfer who has opportunity to play over the course—and John D Rockefeller is rather generous in the distribution of the coveted pasteboards that entitle his friends to make use of this model playground Near the golf links a reminder of bygone days is a section of the half mile private race track which was constructed by Mr Rockefeller in his younger days when he had a penchant for trotting

In this same part of the grounds too may be seen a row of trees planted by John D Jr entirely in accordance with his own ideas when he was a very small boy

At the highest part of the Forest Hill estate there is a private lake that covers seven acres and adds greatly to the attractiveness of the place A white boathouse shelters among other craft a wonderful diminutive motor boat which John D Rockefeller had constructed for his favorite grandson and which that proud youngster can operate unaided On the shore of the lake is a tower and windmill—retained now only for the sake of appearances but thereby hangs a tale suggestive of the proverbial shrewdness and thrift of the head of the Rockefeller clan As our readers doubtless know it is the especial weakness of the average man who acquires a country seat or vacation home to install a model private water power and lighting plant But not so Mr Rockefeller, He had these things in days gone by when he virtually had to have them so to speak but now that city utilities have been brought within his reach he has had recourse to the city water supply and the commercial current of the city is used for the electric lamps which illuminate the Forest Hill residence and grounds

The residence by the way is somewhat overwhelmed by the magnitude and beauty of its grounds Architecturally the residence is not nearly so impressive as that at the Pocantico Hills estate but then Mr Rockefeller did not build it He came by it as a going concern and it has been used as a southern retreat before the Oil King became the owner of it which may account for the comment of some critics that it looks like a hotel and he merely continues to exercise building making such alterations as he found necessary from time to time For all that the house is a thoroughly comfortable one and only recently Mr Rockefeller possibly in confession of his advancing age had constructed an extensive sun parlor which commands a splendid view over the entire countryside and Lake Erie beyond This new sun parlor will make the Forest Hill mansion a congenial residence until late in the fall or early in the winter Ordinarily the Rockefeller household has arrived at Forest Hill in May or June and remained until September or October But this year as above mentioned the richest man plans to continue his stay much later than usual

The addition to the residence and the work on the golf course comprise but a small portion of the campaign of improvements which have been carried out these past few months under the personal direction of the standard Oil Wizard and in planning which he has manifested all the enthusiasm that might be expected from a much younger homemaker And as evidence of how thoroughly up to date is this veteran financier it may be cited that he is as keen as anybody regarding the advantages of concrete—the twentieth century building material Fifteen bridges have been provided on the Forest Hill estate and although they are stone faced for the sake of harmony with the landscape all the more recently constructed bridges are primarily of concrete construction

Extensive improvements have also been carried on lately at Mrs Rockefeller's favorite nook—the lily pool This is a truly idyllic spot in a soothing sylvan setting and here the mistress of Forest Hill loves to come and sit by the hour on a rustic seat so placed as to command a view of the pond and the miniature waterfalls in the tiny stream which discharges into it That no expense is spared in accomplishing things at Forest Hill is attested by one detail of this lily pool Pipes have been laid connecting the pool with the steam heating plant on the estate and thus the waters of the pond are warmed to a temperature which permits the cultivation of the Egyptian [illegible] lily and other rare aquatic plants.

There is a five acre vegetable garden and a half acre flower garden at Forest Hill and these are supplemented as sources of supply for the Rockefeller household by the "farm" which is all that its name implies and which in its relationship to the remainder of the estate is a wheel within a wheel

You Can Be a Better Cook

TEA KETTLE

It isn't all in the "knack" The utensils you use go a long way toward making your food fine and appetizing or ill-cooked and indigestible.

It's impossible to make the best cookery in utensils that quickly scorch or crack and scale off, rust and corrode. And such utensils are dangerous. Authorities say that cancer comes of eating particles of glass chipped off from ordinary enamel ware when hot.

The heat expands the iron frame but the coating of glass—which is all enamel ware is—does not expand so fast, consequently it breaks and gets mixed with the food.

There is no such danger from food cooked in up-to-date

TOWN LIKE COMMISSION TO ASSIST FARMERS

Dallas, Texas, Oct 18.—Mr B. B Cain, president of the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association, has recommended the organization of a Farm Life Commission to study agricultural problems. Mr. Cain, in connection with Mr. Peter Radford, president of the Farmers' Union, has made a searching investigation into the agricultural needs of the state In discussing this subject before the annual meeting of the Commercial Secretaries Association, at Houston recently, Mr Cain said in part

"A sale of any commodity at less than cost of production is an economic waste and almost approaches a crime After studying the subject I am firmly convinced that any permanently successful plan for the raising and marketing of farm products is practically impossible without strong organization

"I am so deeply impressed with the importance of aiding the producer that I present for your consideration as the special feature of our work for the coming year the creation of a Farm Life Bureau, whose duty it shall be to cooperate with the Farmers' Union, if possible, and make a thorough study of farm life and farm problems with the single purpose of making the business of farming, fruit growing and truck raising more remunerative and the environment of that class of citizens more attractive

The Commercial Secretaries will organize the commission at an early meeting of the executive committee

McAdoo Replies to Perkins.

New York, Oct 18.—W G McAdoo, acting chairman of the Democratic National committee yesterday received a long open letter from George W Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the third term party In his letter, Mr Perkins quoted a dispatch from Chicago to the effect that Gov Wilson had protested against making any more speeches in this campaign and was going to retire to Princeton Mr McAdoo replied as follows

Replying to yours of the 11th just don't worry! Governor Wilson will speak often enough and say enough during the remainder of the campaign to keep his friends satisfied and his enemies discomfited I am not surprised that you do not like Governor Wilson's speeches None of his opponents do, but we cannot help that Governor Wilson has a peculiarly effective way of handling the issues and I do not think he needs any help or suggestions Please do not hesitate however, to submit any new suggestions that may occur to you

WILL WICHITA FALLS LOSE ITS FRANCHISE?

Denison Paper Says It Is Uncertain Whether this City Will be Allowed to Hold Place

That the Texas Oklahoma League will be larger and stronger this season than last seems assured Already several new towns have intimated their intention of seeking berths in the league. The T-O League was one of the few brush leagues which finished its playing schedule last season. This fact alone has shown several of the skeptical towns that the league is organized on a firm basis. That Denison, Sherman, Ardmore and Durant will have organized ball in 1913 is assured. Then Hugo and McAlester, Okla, are anxious to get in McKinney which started the season but dropped out at the end of the first series, is said to be seeking a franchise Gainesville and Paris are mentioned favorably The latter was in the South Central League last year but is said to be dissatisfied with the class of ball played and the long jumps necessary to cover the circuit Bonham and Wichita Falls, members of the T-O League for the past seasons, are a trifle doubtful. Those who have backed the Bonham franchise for two seasons declared several months ago that they were through with the game, it being entirely too expensive individually But it is believed that the Fannin county town will be in the league again this year The Wichita Falls situation is a peculiar one Doubtless the town will be an applicant for a franchise but whether the league will admit them is another proposition Wichita Falls is 120 miles west of Denison, which is considered the center of the circuit. To make the jump is expensive and tiresome and there is little if any chance to break it Then the patronage at Wichita Falls has always been poor and it was necessary on several occasions for the club to pay the visitors the guarantee money

It is expected that there will be a meeting of the representatives of the towns seeking franchises early next January in Denison when some definite steps will be taken for the coming esason's organization.—Denison Herald.

Considering the fact that Wichita Falls promoted and organized the league and by putting up cold cash on more than one occasion kept it from dissolution it is hardly probable its franchise will be revoked

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pendergrass, Ga.—Mrs Della Long, of this place, in a recent letter, says "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles.

Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint

I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately Now I can do my work all the time and don't suffer like I did."

Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired miserable, or under the weather Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women

It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times.

Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs

Its half century of success is due to merit. It has done good to thousands Will you try it? It may be just what you need Ask your druggist about Cardui He will recommend it.

FOR THE WINTER DAYS

METHODS OF PUTTING UP ALWAYS POPULAR APPLE.

Canned, They Are a Welcome Addition to the Cold Weather Menu—Preserved Crab Apple—Ingredients with Apple Butter.

Canned Apples—Peel one-half peck of tart apples, cut them in quarters and remove cores as soon as prepared put the apples into cold water to which the juice of one lemon has been added Have ready five pints of syrup put the apples into five quart jars fill them up with the syrup, close tightly and place the jars in a boiler with the water coming to within an inch of the top of them, and cook about twenty minutes

For the syrup put three and one-half pounds of sugar and two and one half pints of water in a preserving kettle, stirring until nearly boiling and always removing the scum that rises Use as directed

Preserved Crab Apple—Remove cores from two quarts of sound crab apples, using a small apple corer; then immediately drop the apples into cold water to keep them from discoloring Put into a preserving kettle two pounds of sugar and one pint of water let the syrup boil a few minutes, removing scum the while and then put in the apples, letting them boil until tender without losing shape Put the apples carefully into jars, fill these up with the syrup, seal and set away

Apple Butter — Wash and cut up without peeling one half peck of tart apples; put them in a preserving kettle, adding one quart of cider; cover the kettle and boil the fruit until tender. When cooked, remove the fruit from the fire and rub it through a sieve; return the pulp to the kettle, place it over a slow fire and boil it thirty minutes, stirring all the while. Then measure the pulp, and to each quart put two cupfuls of sugar; also add one half teaspoonful each of ground cloves and cinnamon and boil twenty minutes Put the sauce into stone or glass jars and seal them tightly

Apple Sweet — Peel and cut one-half peck of large sweet apples into halves or quarters and drop them at once into cold water, then place them in a preserving kettle, covering them only with water, and boil until tender. Then remove the apples from the kettle and lay the pieces so as not to break them up on a large flat platter.

In the meanwhile place two pounds of sugar and two pints of water over the fire, adding the juice and peel of two large lemons. When the syrup boils put in the apples and cook them five minutes more. Fill the jars with syrup after the apples are in them and seal.

Ginger Apples—Peel one-half peck of medium-sized tart apples and cut them into quarters; remove cores and drop apples at once into cold water, adding the juice of one lemon. Pick over and wash two ounces of green ginger and then cut it up into small pieces.

Place the preserving kettle with three pounds of sugar and one quart of water over the fire, drop in the ginger and boil five minutes; then put in the apples and cook them until a straw will pierce them easily. Remove the apples with great care from the kettle and put them in the same manner into the jars, continuing to boil the syrup for ten minutes after the fruit has been taken out. Fill the jars to overflowing with the syrup, cover, and set them upside down until cold. Instead of green ginger, one-half ounce of tincture of ginger may be used.

Help in Peeling Onions.

The merest briefet from a Chicago coworker takes another pebble (and not a tiny bit!) out of the path.

"Before beginning to peel onions, grease your finger tips liberally with butter or lard or dripping. Then grasp the knife and go on with the dreaded job! Not a trace of odor from the onion or garlic will cling to your hands, provided, of course, that you avoid handling the onion with any part of them except the fingers.

Banana Soup.

Mash six ripe bananas, then rub them through a sieve; add twice as much cold milk, sweeten to taste, add a pinch of salt and the grated rind of one lemon, bring to boiling point, then add one heaping teaspoonful of arrowroot or cornstarch mixed smooth with a little cold milk, stir till boiling, then allow to cook for eight minutes, stirring constantly; let cool, then add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and place on ice. Serve in bouillon cups.

Canned Pineapple Fritters.

Drain the slices of pineapple from the sirup in the can; sprinkle with kirsch and let stand an hour, then dry on a cloth Dip the slices, one at a time, in fritter batter and fry in deep fat to a delicate amber tint. Drain on soft paper. Serve at once with a hot sauce made of the sirup from the can.

Baked Potatoes.

Thoroughly wash 12 good sized potatoes make a few small slits in them, but do not peel Place in a paper bag with one tablespoon of water; cook from 40 to 50 minutes, according to size.

Vinegar for Lamp Burners.

Boil your lamp burners in weakened vinegar to clean them and the light will be much clearer

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"There must be something in a case which will prompt a man to give his last dollar to help it along," said Charles H. Crane, Vice-Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Democratic National Committee exhibiting a well-worn one dollar bill, that had just come to him through the mails.

"We receive many such contributions, and for the most part, we have difficulty in persuading the donors to give their names," continued Mr. Crane. "They do not want any receipts or certificates, but just want to help the good work along, they say.

"I have today a letter from the 'Binghamtonian' of Binghamton, New York, which illustrates my point. In the letter the editor says:

"'On Saturday last we printed the appeal sent out by the Finance Committee soliciting One Dollar subscriptions. The appeal was read by a poor man who was an ardon Democrat. This morning he appeared at the office with his dollar, and we have reason to believe that it is his last dollar until he earns another. Knowing this we advised him to hold on to his money, but he was deaf to our suggestions and insisted that we take it as his share in financing the campaign.'

"It is truly inspiring to see how many earnest men are responding to our appeal for support of this campaign by the people themselves. In very fact it is true that the people are financing the Wilson campaign. The great bulk of our contributions come directly from the people on their own initiative."

DRAMATIC CLOSE MARKS VICTORY

BOSTON SCORES TWICE IN TENTH WITH GIANTS ONE RUN AHEAD

TEXAN'S HIT TIES SCORE

Speaker Delivers Needed Drive in Last Inning and Sacrifice Fly Ends Contest

By Associated Press

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 16.—With a world's baseball championship in the balance, today's game between New York and Boston went ten innings, then was won by the Red Sox on one of the most hair-raising finishes ever witnessed.

It was a never-to-be-forgotten situation that faced Jake Stahl and his men at the beginning of the second half of the tenth inning. They had tied the score in the seventh, holding New York to one run all the way and now, with the world's championship at stake, they needed two runs to get it. They got it.

Mathewson pitched peerless ball for New York until the tenth and it was a rotten error by Snodgrass that led to his undoing then, aided by Speaker's timely drive. Bedient started for Boston but was replaced by Wood to give a pinch hitter, Hendrickson, an opportunity to bat in the tying score.

Yerkes had gone to third on Speaker's drive and Speaker was on second. With Lewis, a dangerous hitter, at the bat, orders were given to pass him and increase the chances for a force play at the plate. Lewis walked, filling the bases.

The scenes was one of heart-breaking tenseness and the crowd was in a tumult of excitement. The cheering was terrific. Gardner came to bat and Mathewson's long arms whirled as he delivered the ball. Gardner caught the wicked in-shoot on the end of his bat and sent it high in the air to Devore. As the latter caught the ball Yerkes dashed like a steark for the plate. Devore's throw went wide, the run was scored and the game and the world's championship were decided.

The crowd rushed to the plate and gave the Sox a tremendous ovation McGraw took his way across to the Sox bench to congratulate Stahl and some spectator addressed an insulting remark to him; there was an exchange of blows.

The crowd pressed about Mathewson and apited him on the back for his clever box work, but "Christy" refused to be consoled.

The weather was clear and cold with the temperature about 45 degrees, making overcoats and mufflers comfortable in the grandstand.

FIRST INNING.

New York—The first pitch was a ball. Devore hit a hard one to Wagner who made a difficult stop and a clean throw to Stahl, putting the runner out. Doyle went out by the same route. Snodgrass walked and stole second. Murray went out, Gardner to Stahl. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Boston—Hooper bunted the ball almost into Merkle's hands and was out. Yerkes fanned. Speaker singled to right, taking second when Doyle dropped Devore's throw. Lewis struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING.

New York—Merkle struck out and Herzog was out on a fly to Speaker. Meyers hit a grounder that went through Gardner. Fletcher singled to second. Cady threw to Wagner to catch Meyers napping and the New York catcher turned and ran to third, making it safe when Gardner dropped Wagner's throw. Mathewson flied to Speaker. No runs, one hit, one error.

Boston—Gardner walked and was forced at second when Doyle fielded Stahl's grounder and threw to Fletcher. Wagner singled to left field Cady flied to Merkle and Bedient went out Doyle to Merkle.

THIRD INNING.

New York—Devore walked and advanced to second when Doyle went out, Gardner to Stahl. Snodgrass was out on a grounder to Stahl, Devore taking third. Murray hit to left field for two bases, scoring Devore. Merkle went out, Wagner to Stahl. One run, one hit, no errors.

Boston—Hooper went out, Doyle to Merkle, Yerkes went out, Mathewson to Merkle. Speaker struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

New York—Herzog singled to left field and went to third when Meyers sacrificed, Gardner to Stahl. Fletcher flied to Gardner and Mathewson flied to Hooper. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Boston—Lewis was out on a grounder to Fletcher. Gardner hit a long fly which Snodgrass dropped, but the runner was out at third, on a relay, from Snodgrass to Doyle to Herzog. Gardner being credited with a two-bagger. Stahl fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.

New York—Devore reached first on an infield hit and was out on an attempted steal. Doyle slammed a healthy liner to right field, which Hooper, running with the ball, nabbed just as it was about to go into the crowd for a home run. It was the most remarkable catch of the world's series. Snodgrass singled to left field. Murray was out on a foul which Cady caught. No runs, two hits, two errors.

Boston—Wagner and Cady each flied to Murray and Bedient flied to Devore. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING.

New York—Merkle sent a fly to Hooper and was out. Herzog went out, Wagner to Stahl. Meyers walked and Fletcher struck out. No runs no hits, no errors.

Boston—Hooper popped out to Merkle. Yerkes singled to right field. Speaker walked and was forced at second when Fletcher took Lewis' grounder and threw to Doyle, Yerkes going to third. The double steal was attempted and Yerkes was put out at the plate on throws from Meyers to Mathewson to Herzog. No runs one hit no errors.

SEVENTH INNING

New York—Stahl dropped Mathewson's high foul and the pitcher then singled to center. Bedient took Devore's bunt and forced Mathewson at second. Doyle flied out to Wagner. Devore stole second. Snodgrass went out Gardner to Stahl. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Boston—Gardner flied to Snodgrass. Stahl singled between Murray and Fletcher to left field. Wagner walked, Stahl taking second. Cady flied out to Fletcher. With two down

HURRICANE LIKE WINDS BLOWING

FIERCEST WIND AND RAIN STORM IN YEARS AT BROWNSVILLE LAST NIGHT

HURRICANE WARNINGS

Displayed for Gulf Coast From Port Lavaca to Brownsville

By Associated Press

Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 16.—The gulf storm which struck here last night apparently passed its worst this forenoon, and this afternoon the barometer was rising and the wind falling. No lives were lost. There was considerable minor damage throughout the city. The roof of the filter plant was blown off.

No word has come from Point Isabel, which is much nearer the open gulf than Brownsville. The wires to that place are down.

Railway at Aransas Pass Under Water

By Associated Press

Corpus Christi, Oct. 16.—With a heavy gulf storm blowing here it was reported shortly afternoon today that the terminal railway at Aransas Pass is under water for six miles and in danger of washing away.

Residents along the beach in this section have forsaken their homes for higher ground. Reports here give velocity of sixty to one hundred miles an hour, between here and Brownsville.

There are no important towns in the interval between the two points.

Damage at Brownsville Last Night.

By Associated Press

Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 16.—One of the fiercest wind and rain storms in years struck this city and vicinity last night. A gale blew all during the night. The local weather bureau report the highest velocity at fifty-five miles. The streets this morning are littered with trees and branches, broken plate glass windows, signs and thousands of movable objects.

So far only on accident has been reported. A transom fell on Jordon McKenzie, who was sleeping and severed the upper portion of his right ear.

Advices received here at 8:15 this morning state that a hurricane warning has been displayed from Port Lavaca to Brownsville. Winds are still high.

MANY COMMUNITIES LIFT BAN ON NEGROES

Need of Cotton Pickers Brings About Change in Attitude Toward "Cullud Persons"

The "unwritten law" which has for years made the negro an undesirable citizen in many counties in Northwest Texas, has been set aside for the time being, in order to get the cotton crop picked. In the counties where negroes have hitherto been barred, they are now being imported in sufficient numbers to handle the crop.

Baylor county is one of the counties where negroes have not been permitted to reside, but so pressing has become the need for pickers that it has been decided to admit the blacks. One planter in that section is now in Louisiana arranging to bring one hundred negroes to Baylor county, where the crop is excellent and for the greater part still unpicked. Judge Jo A. P. Dickson of Seymour, who was in the city today, said that it had been agreed that there would be no interference with the negroes, though they will hardly be asked to remain after the picking is over.

The Young Men's Progressive League this morning received letters from a number of points, offering to send pickers here. These letters come as a result of the publicity which has been given to the fact that Northwest Texas needs pickers. Among the offers received were some from Tennessee Colony, Pine Ridge, Amarillo Anadarko and Muskogee, Oklahoma San Saba and Forney.

Many of the farmers who were in the city yesterday improved the shining hours by corralling a number of pickers. One of these farmers who resides in Clay county, took a wagon-load of pickers home in his wagon putting his family up at a local hotel until he could return with the team for them.

Fort Worth Live Stock

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 16.—Cattle receipts 4000. Beef steers steady to 5.65. Calves receipts 1000, steady to active 4.50 to 5.50. Hog receipts 2000, five to ten cents lower. Tops $9. Sheep receipts, 700, twenty-five cents higher.

WEATHER FORECAST

Tonight rain; Thursday probably rain.

"MERIDIAN ROAD" MEETING TONIGHT

Whistles Will Give Notice of Meeting for Organization of Meridian Road Association

Whistles in various portions of the city will be blown at 8 o'clock this evening to remind those interested of the meeting at the city hall at 8:30 o'clock in connection with the Meridian road movement, at which time the official pathfinders will be in attendance and a permanent Meridian road association organized in this county.

The Progressive League has arranged for the whistling and urges every citizen interested in a greater Wichita Falls to drop other matters when the whistles begin to blow and come to the city hall. Careful investigation prosecuted by the League leads that organization to believe that this is one of the most important matters that has confronted the citizens in many months, and will be second in worth only to a new railroad. Yearly hundreds if not thousands of tourists will travel the road selected by this pathfinding party and if Wichita Falls manifests a deep interest it is stated that the road is assured for this city.

The pathfinding party will proceed to Fort Worth on tomorrow morning to organize associations there and in the counties between here and Tarrant.

Felix Diaz, Kinsman of the Former Dictator Carries Out Well Laid Plan

By Associated Press

Mexico City, Oct. 16.—The army, the police, the marine corps stationed at Vera Cruz, enlisted today under the rebellious banner raised by Gen Felix Diaz, nephew of ex-president Diaz. Two gun boas in the harbor of Vera Crup have been taken by Felix Diaz.

The plan which he has been perfecting for many days has been carried out smoothly.

ACT OF MADMAN SHOULD NOT STOP DISCUSSION

Roosevelt Did Not Ask That Discussion be Turned Away From Principles Involved

By Associated Press

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 16.—"It is embarassing to discuss Mr. Roosevelt or his policies at this time," said William Jennings Bryan today, "I would rather occupy the time in expressions of sympathy, but the campaign issues should not be determined by the act of a mad-man.

"Col Roosevelt did not ask that the discussion be turned away from the principles involved. A maniac is not the arbiter to whom to submit a presidential contest."

GOV. COLQUITT FORWARDS CONTRIBUTIONS FOR WILSON

By Associated Press

Austin, Texas, Oct. 16.—Governor Colquitt has just forwarded by registered mail to Henry Morgenthau of the Woodrow Wilson campaign fund committee the sum of $2500 which has been sent to him in Texas. Within the next two or three days he will send $1000 more which has come to him for the use of the National committee.

J. S. RINGLING IN CITY YESTERDAY

VISIT OF BIG CIRCUS MAGNATE BELIEVED TO BE IN CONNECTION WITH PROPOSED RY.

SURVEY NOW IN PROGRESS

Line From Fort Smith, Ark., to Wichita Falls Said to Be Planned

It was learned today that J. S. Ringling, of circus fame, whose name has been mentioned in connection with a proposed railroad from Ardmore, Oklahoma, to this city, was in Wichita Falls yesterday, presumably looking after matters in connection with his project. If he was here, he was able to keep his presence in the city more or less a secret.

The railroad proposed by Mr. Ringling, and for which a survey is said to be in progress, is planned from Ardmore west by way of Waurika to this city and westward from here into the plains country.

In this connection, the following dispatches from Austin, published recently in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, are of interest:

"Austin, Tex., Oct 14.—John Ringling and his brothers have taken steps to construct a railroad across Oklahoma and into Texas. This information has just been divulged to the State Railroad Commission by Mr. Ringling. He called on the commission for the purpose of learning the requirements of that body in the matter of railroad construction in Texas. He stated that it is the plan of himself and associates to construct the first division between Wichita Falls, Texas, and Ardmore, Okla. The line will later be extended from Ardmore northeast to Fort Smith, Ark. The distance between Fort Smith and Wichita Falls by the route of the proposed line is about 240 miles. From Wichita Falls the line will be extended into the lower Panhandle portion of Texas.

Mr. Ringling says that he has been gathering data for some time in regard to the traffic possibilities of the proposed road and that he is well satisfied as to the prospects of the enterprise in that respect.

"Austin, Tex., Oct. 14.—It is learned on good authority that the Enid, Ochiltree and Western Railroad which has just passed out of a receivership, is to be extended and become a part of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas system. Its purchaser at the receiver's sale was Charles Hamilton of Waco, who for many years has been vice president and general manager of the Texas Central. The latter road is owned and operated by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas. The Enid, Ochiltree and Western is graded from Dalhart to Dumas, forty miles and fourteen miles of track have been laid. The Wichita Falls & Northwestern, which is also a Missouri, Kansas and Texas property, runs to Wellington, Texas, and is headed in the direction of Dumas.

"The Enid, Ochiltree and Western and the Wichita Falls & Northwestern are to be connected by filling in the intervening gap of about 120 miles. In addition to filling in this gap and giving a through line between points in Oklahoma and Texas, and the western portion of the Panhandle region, a branch line of the Enid, Ochiltree and Western will be constructed from Dumas northeast to Ochiltree, through the wheat-growing belt of Moore Hansford, Hutchingson and Ochiltree counties, seventy-two miles."

WILSON'S TOUR TO COAST NOT CANCELLED

Candidate Will Leave New Jersey Tonight, if there is no Further Change in Plans

By Associated Press

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—"I would gladly forego my long speaking tour to the Pacific coast," said Governor Marshall today, "but I am under orders of the national committee, and unless further instructed I shall depart tonight for Chicago."

Impossible to Cancel all Engagements

By Associated Press

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—Governor Wilson attempted today to cancel all his speaking engagements but found it impossible to do so. In his speeches of the next three days he will omit all discussion of the Progressive party and except for a speech at Madison Square Garden, New York, on October 31 he will do no more campaigning after next Saturday, when Col. Roosevelt is able to speak again.

Non-self supporting Harvard students according to the Cambridge election board will not be allowed to vote in the coming presidential election.

BULLET FRACTURED COL. ROOSEVELT'S RIB

Precaution Taken By Taft.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 16.—On his way to the railroad station today on route to Worcester, Mass. President Taft was closely guarded by secret service men. A number of detectives were with him in his auto. At the station the president was escorted through the concourse to a car.

CONFESSION BY MAN WHO SHOT ROOSEVELT

McKinley and Dream Declared to Have Said "This is My Murderer and Nobody Else"

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Oct. 16.—John Schrank who attempted to assassinate Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee Monday night had a good night's rest in a cell at the county jail, to which he was transferred after being arraigned yesterday.

"Schrank was asleep at 10:30 last night," said Sheriff Arnold, "he slept throughout the night."

The police tonight completed the work of transcribing the confession of Schrank.

The detailed confession is as follows:

"What object did you have in following around and trying to meet Theodore Roosevelt?

A.—Well, because I have been reading history and following up history and I have seen that this man Roosevelt is trying to break one of the old, time customs of the country, calling it a third term, which he has no right to. He can create a third term party and create all the offices but to nominate himself and establish now and have the third term tradition to exist and not be violated by anybody.

Q.—Well, what did you have in mind to do when you went around in these different places?

A.—I had in mind to meet him and he escaped me every time. He escaped me in Atlanta and Chattanooga.

Q.—He escaped what?

A.—He has not come the way I expected; he did not come out the way I expected. If he goes in a hall today and speaks in a hall and he comes in that way or that way, he goes out a different way, and the man got away.

A.—What did he escape from?

A.—From the places I wanted to meet him.

Q.—Why did you want to [illegible] of the way; a man that wan[illegible] third term has no right to live.

Q.—That is, you wanted to [illegible]?

A.—I did.

Q.—Have you any other reason in wanting to kill him?

A.—I have.

Q.—What is that?

A.—I had a dream several years ago in which Mr. McKinley appeared to me and told me that Mr. Roosevelt was practically his real murderer and not Czolgosz or whatever his name was; Mr. Roosevelt is practically the man that has been the real murderer of President McKinley in order to get the Presidency of the United States. Because the way things were at that time, he was not supposed to be "president all the leaders did not want him; that's the reason they gave him the Vice Presidency, which is political suicide; that's what I am sore about to think Mr. McKinley appeared to me in a dream and said: "This is my murderer and nobody else."

Q.—Did you speak with anybody in New York about this before you left?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—You made your mind up all yourself?

A.—Yes, because I am alone, although I own property in New York.

Q.—What property?

A.—I own property at 402 East Eighty-First street.

Q.—What does it consist of?

A.—It consists of an apartment house with ten tenants, it is estimated at $25,000.

Q.—Did you attend any political meetings in New York before you left?

A.—I attended several; yes, sir, ever since I was coming across the country. I attended political meetings in Indianapolis, Ind., of the three political parties.

Q.—Who furnished you with funds that you needed to travel around the country?

A.—I beg your pardon, I was just telling you I have property and had the money.

SCHRANK ALWAYS AN ECCENTRIC

ROOSEVELT'S ASSAILANT LEFT BAVARIA BECAUSE HE COULD NOT SECURE EMPLOYMENT

ROOSEVELT IS CHEERFUL

Awoke Yesterday Morning After Good Rest "Feeling Fine"—Wife and Daughter Arrive

[illegible]

Schrank Always an Eccentric

By Associated Press

Munich, Bavaria, Oct. 16.—Mr. John Schrank, the assailant of Col. Roosevelt is a native of this city. After wandering in southern Germany, about twenty years ago, he came to America. A few relatives of his family still reside here, and are in very good circumstances. Schrank at the time of his departure for America, twenty years ago, was regarded as a most eccentric character and he was unable to secure employment in the vicinity.

He had been turned upon the army mobilization list as a deserter since he left.

Roosevelt "Feeling Fine" This Morning

By Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Theodore Roosevelt awoke at 6:30 o'clock this morning "feeling fine" as he expressed it to his night nurse who prepared to write his official record. At that time the colonel was had more than three hours of unbroken rest and for long periods he was awake, while away the time with a copy of "McCullough's Rough Riders" which he had brought to the hospital with him.

Often the volume fell from his hand and at intervals he dozed. Up to 9 o'clock in the morning his clinical record was regularly taken, but shortly after that time he fell into a deep slumber, from which he did not awaken until long past daylight.

That the long sleep had been beneficial was at once apparent, as it scarcely needed his temperature, that he was "feeling fine" to confirm his general appearance. As soon as the colonel awoke, he insisted upon having his breakfast which he had ordered before midnight, for seven o'clock. He was dissuaded however from having it at this early hour and was told the first meal must be his bath and then his breakfast would be prepared for him.

When his breakfast was brought to him, Col. Roosevelt ate every scrap and after he had finished it stated it to have been "hotly."

ASSASSINS' BULLET FAILS IN ITS MISSION

Ex-President Roosevelt, Shot In Chest at Milwaukee, In No Danger, But Abandons Speaking Tour. Assailant Is Captured And Is John Schrank of New York. Candidate's Stenographer Is Hero When Attempt Is Made.

Roosevelt was shot by John Schrank, who is believed to be demented.

The would-be assassin was captured by Elbert Martin, Roosevelt's stenographer.

Roosevelt refused to be dissuaded from s eaking to the crowd and talked for an hour. He then left for Chicago.

A roll of manuscript in his pocket checked the bullet and probably saved the ex-president's life.

Roosevelt himself interfered when the angry crowd threatened to lynch his assailant.

Schrank says that President McKinley appeared to him in a dream and told him to kill Roosevelt.

The incident will cause a cancellation of the rest of Roosevelt's engagements.

Schrank pleaded guilty to attempted murder today.

DEMENTED MAN'S STRANGE STORY

PAPERS ON WOULD-BE ASSASSIN'S PERSON TELL OF WEIRD DREAMS

OPPOSES THIRD TERMER

Had Roosevelt's Itinerary in His Pocket—Confesses to Police That he Fired Shot

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—That he was commanded in a dream to kill Roosevelt is the statement of the ex president's assailant.

John Schrank, the man who did the shooting, had on his person a copy of the colonel's itinerary, written on a sheet of note-paper, taken from the Bismarck hotel, and came from Nashville, Tenn. The would be assassin is five feet five inches in height weighs 170 pounds, light complexion bald, fairly well dressed. He confessed to the police that he fired the shot and made the remark:

"Any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

A written proclamation found in the clothing of the man who did the shooting reads.

"Sept. 15, 1912—Sept 15, 1901, 1:3 a m, in a dream I saw President McKinley sit up in monk's attire beside a shape whom I recognized as Theodore Roosevelt. The President said 'This is my murderer; avenge my death.'

Sept 12, 1912, 1 40 a m While reading a poem some one tapped me on the shoulder and said 'Let no murderer take the presidential chair Avenge my death'

"I could plainly see Mr McKinley's features

"Before the Almighty God I swear this above writing is nothing but the truth."

Another note reads

"So long as Japan could rise to the greatest power of the world despite her surviving a tradition more than 2,000 years old, as General Nogi so nobly demonstrated it is the duty of the United States of America to uphold the third term tradition Let every third termer be regarded as a traitor to the American cause Let it be the right and duty of every citizen to forcibly remove a third termer Never let a third term party embalm a President of the ballot

"I am willing to die for my country God has called me to be His instrument, so help me God

INJURY TO ROOSEVELT IS MORE THAN MERE FLESH WOUND DOCTORS SAY

NEEDS ABSOLUTE QUIET

Ex-President is Cheerful, But Expresses Regret That Remainder of Trip is Impossible

By Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt's wound is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious wound in the chest, according to a bulletin issued this afternoon by physicians at Mercy hospital.

This statement was made by the doctors after a late examination of the wound, made by the assassin's bullet in Milwaukee last ight.

At 1:05 p. m. the following bulletin was issued:

"The examination of Col. Roosevelt at 1 p. m. showed his temperature was 98.8, his pulse 92, respiration normal. It pains him to breathe. He must have absolute quiet, must cease talking and must not see anyone until we give permision. This is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious found in the chest and quietude is essential.

Roosevelt slept two hours after his arival in Chicago before he was awakened and taken to Mercy Hospital.

An automobile within two feet of the private car, was already for the Colonel when the rear door of the coach was opened by Dr. Murphy and Col. Roosevelt stepped out with a steady stride. He was supported slightly by the physician.

As Roosevelt descended the step, several flash light photographs were taken.

"Gosh! Shot again!" he exclaimed with a smile.

After his examination at the hospital, Roosevelt sat up in bed drinking tea, eating toast and reading McCauley's Essays. He expressed regret that his manager had decided to have him give up the remainder of his campaign trip.

Medill McCormick said, "Mr Roosevelt is still in active charge of the campaign, although it has been decided, to his regret, that his speaking tour must be abandoned."

By Associated Press

Chicago Oct 15—The following official statement was issued at 10 30 this morning by the surgeons attending Col Roosevelt

Col Roosevelt's hurt is a deep wound of the chest wall, without striking any vital organ, the wound was not probed The point of entrance was to the right and one inch below the level of the right nipple The range of the bullet was upward and inward a distance of four inches on the chest wall There was no evidence of the bullet penetrating the lung Pulse 90 Temperature 99 Respiration 20 At ten a m No operation to remove bullet is indicated at present time. Condition hopeful but wound so important as to demand absolute rest for a number of days.

IS THERE POISON ON THE BULLET?

REMAINING CARTRIDGES IN ASSAILANT'S GUN TO BE TESTED BY CHEMIST

SCHRANK PLEADS GUILTY

Is Held in $7500 for November Term of Court at Milwaukee After Hearing Today

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Oct. 15—John Schrank, Col Roosevelt's assailant pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted murder at his preliminary arraignment today.

He was held to the criminal court for trial under $2500 bond. Tentatively, the date for trial was set for the November term. Judge Neelen said

"I desire to have a chemist examine the remaining bullet to determine if they are poisoned Take the revolver and bullets to Prof Summer for a chemical test to be made immediately. I want to be in a position to telegraph Col. Roosevelt's surgeons in case the test shows there will be further complications in the colonel's wounds from poison."

BUGSCUFFLE BUDGET

Editor Daily Times

Since you were kind enough to publish my other letter I venture to write again—especially as I have some good live dope as Trav Sakes calls it, for publication Since my former writing we have had something doing here in Bugscuffle sure enough The thing of first importance was a reception given in the honor of Slob Stiggins, who had just returned from the supreme council of the 'Ancient and Honorable Order of Oriental Skunks," which held its annual session this year at 'Muddig' down in Hunt county, this state Slob was then and there elected "Exalted and Perpetuel Grand Snark" of the order, and news of which honor having reached Bugscuffle before the mail hack brought Slob in, the whole town turned out to recognize and endorse the promotion The Bugscuffle band one of the best in all the land, was on hand to make the music and the procession was led by Col. Jim Jawsmith who, when we had all returned to the school house (the place where the reception was to be held), delivered one of the most tender and touching and towering orations that was ever hard in this neck of the woods The Weekly Bug had a full report of the festivities next day—the editor having held the forms open for that special purpose From this report I subjoin the following excerpt which will give the reader some idea of the way Bugscuffle does things when she has a mind to it

"The return of our fellow townsman, Mr. Slob Stiggins, Esq, from the Grand Council of the Ancient and Honorable Order of the Oriental Skunks was signalized by the most enthusiastic demonstration of popular regard that has ever been awarded to any of our people since Adam was a small boy Men, women and children, an hour or more before the time for the mail hack—which wore 'The Conquecring Hero'—arrived formed in procession in front of 'Squire Yukes' store. Col. Jim Jawsmith was unanimously chosen as marshal of the day, and it was a joy to all his friends and an occasion of jealousy to all his enemies (if he has any) to see him prancing up and down the lines, mounted upon old man's Scet's mare, with hat cocked and a large red sash girt about him. To add a little dash of sentiment to the scene, the young colt of the mare upon which he rode, ran up and down following its mother, with wild neighing which was really pathetic. Frequently the poor brute mother would cast an anxious backward look at her wabbly offspring and express her maternal feelings in such loud neighings as almost to drown the dulcet notes of the laboring band Miss Tilby Tut, our expression teacher in the school here, felt so inspired by the incident that she handed ye plate and in the middle of the table editor the following stanzas for publication:

'Let proud ambition mount the royal throne;
Let prostrate nations hail him as their own;
Let hoary wisdom scan the ancient page,
Or wild-eyed revel rant and roar and rage;
Beyond it all sweet sentiment holds sway,
And marks for human feet a better way
Yea, e'en among the brutes we see its power,
The neighing colt and the answering mare,
Appeal to all hearts even in this hour
Enthralls the spirit and confines it there!"

When the procession had broken up and all the people had entered the school house, mirable dictu' there upon a table reaching clear across the room was one of the most delicious repasts it has ever been our good fortune to assist in passing into an eclipse Menu cards and souvenir posies of touch-me-nots" and 'sweet williams' were provided for each was the biggest pumpkin ever raised in this country, brim full of roasted peanuts, the products of Mr. Bunker's farm just east of town about two miles The menu cards were prepared by Prof. Von Bungs, principal of our school, assisted by Prof Caskowhiskey who has charge of the conservatory department of our great educational institution But here is the menu (1) chickeral supese; (2) turnepo saladaris, (3) cornibus ponabus ala farmibus; (4) bollideridus hamabus (frigidus), bollideridus cablagibus, (6) hogis jolice; (7) coffeanus hotibus; (8) peacherina plabus

There were other items, but these were the main dishes Too much can not be said for our ladies who, led by Mrs Yukes and Mrs Ponder, were responsible for this elegant banquet There was a lemonade punch bowl presided over by Misses Mandy Yukes, Sis Ponder, Beulah Bunker and Winnie Wunks

It certainly was a great time Several young gentlemen and fair ladies from Wichita Falls were present and they expressed themselves as never having seen anything just like it Miss Hulda Beets and Miss Sis Ponder are said to be engaged to two young dry goods clerks in Wichita Falls There is going to be something more doing around here before long

The next thing of importance that has happened among us lately was the organization of a Chamber of Commerce The first to mention this matter to our citizens were old Bro Bugle and Squire Yukes. They told our people that 'every town which was worth the mention was using the Chamber of Commerce as an instrument through and by which the united efforts of the community might avail."

The upshot of the matter was that a mass meeting of the citizens was called the whole thing thoroughly gone over and an organization of 'the Bugscuffle Chamber of Commerce" with Slob Striggins as general secretary and with the following directorate to support him, was effected Daniel Yukes J Jawsmith, Lonza Pellet, Jeriminh Bugle, Jed Ponder, Fred VonBungs, Cy Kettle, Dutch Bunker, Hiram Seets, William Wunk and Dave Stofer

Fourteen dollars were subscribed at the time of the organization to finance the concern, and the outlook is hopeful Col Jawsmith was so excited over the prospect that being called on for a speech he declared that, "in view of the mighty possibilities wrapped up in this organization the most altitudinous and toploftical aspirations that ever flamed in the breast of the human species was now burning blazing and boiling in the hearts of our expectant and hilarious population" Col. Jim is nothing if not eloquent—at least that is what our people think about it. However, Prof. VonBungs says that according to the way matters of that sort are taught in the schools these days, he thinks Col Jim "ought to boil down his remarks" I just give real words of the professor as printed in the Weekly Bug We expect to have something big going on all the time from this on and if The Times will publish it I will write about it all from time to time.

Yours,
JOSH BAGGS.

P. S—I did not intend to mention it, but as some of us were going home from the banquet the other night, seeing something that looked like a dead man in the road before us, we marched up to it and, what do you reckon? Sime Stiggins drunk as a fool.
J B.

N. B—If anybody has any old quilts or cast off clothing of any sort to dispose of, they will do well to send them to Mrs. Loletta Pellet, president of the women's charity work in our church here. Mrs. Pellet says "please don't cut the bottons off the clothes you send in for the poor" Old Bro. Bugle, referring to this published request, last Sunday in his morning sermon remarked that the fact of having to ask people not to do a thing like that was a disgrace to Bugscuffle.

A BIG CONCERN LOOKING THIS WAY

MEN AT HEAD OF BIG GLASS INDUSTRY HERE TO LOOK OVER THE FIELD

MAY LOCATE A BRANCH

Representatives Visit Gas Fields and are Favorably Impressed—Names Witheld

The owners of one of the largest glass jar manufacturing concerns in the country are now in the city, looking over the ground with a view to moving one of their plants here from a Kansas town. The names of the gentlemen and of the concern which they represent, are withheld for obvious reasons.

If this is located here it will be third glass concern to move to this city, making this still more the premier glass city of the Southwest The plant which it is proposed to move, employs 200 men.

The party has visited other places in the country where natural gas is available for fuel and will visit all such places before arriving at any decision

Yesterday afternoon, accompanied by J W Culbertson J A Kemp and others, the visitors went to Petrolia to view the gas and oil field They were much impressed with what they saw Today they will visit Lake Wichita and the guass factories now completed southwest of the city, leaving here at noon. They are accompanied by T L. Peeler of Dallas, industrial commissioner of the Katy lines who is making every effort to induce the gentlemen to establish the plant in Wichita Falls

Numerous Oklahoma points where natural gas is available have already been visited also Shreveport Louisiana Last night several local citizens met the visitors at the St James and discussed the situation with them The concern in question is the largest in the country and it would mean much to this city for it to have a branch here

As to Wichita Falls' chances for landing the plant there is little to be said further than that this city has a chance as good as if not better than the other places visited on account of the supply of natural gas and the fact that Wichita Falls is already considerable of a glass manufacturing point No decision will be reached until the owners have returned home and considered all the proposed locations at length.

panions stood aside and he stepped into the car. Martin entered directly behind him and sat on the farther side of the car.

Col. Roosevelt stood up, waving his hat in answer to the cheers of the crowd. The assassin was standing the crowd a few feet from the automobile. He pushed his way to the side of the car and raising his gun fired.

Martin leaped over the car a second after the bullet sped on its way. Col. Roosevelt barely moved as the shot was fired. Before the crowd knew what had happened Martin, who is six feet tall and a former foot ball player, had landed squarely on the assassin's shoulders and had forced him to the ground. He threw his right arm about the man's neck with a deathlike grip and with his left hand seized the hand that held the revolver. In another second he had disarmed him.

Col. Roosevelt stood calmly looking on as though nothing had happened. Martin picked the man up although he were a child and carried him the few feet which separated them from the car almost to the side of the colonel.

'Here he is," said Martin, "look at him colonel."

This happened within a few seconds and Col. Roosevelt stood gazing rather curiously at the man before the stunned crowd realized what was going on. Then a howl of rage went up.

"Lynch him; kill him!" cried a hundred men. The crowd pressed on the man and Martin and Captain Girard, who had followed Martin over the side of the car were caught with their prisoner in the midst of a struggling throng of maddened men. It seemed for the moment that he would be torn to pieces and it was Col. Roosevelt himself who intervened on his behalf.

He raised his hand and motioned to the crowd to fall back.

"Stop, stop!" he cried, "stand back; don't hurt him."

The men in the crowd at first were not disposed to heed his words, but at length fell back and permitted Martain and Captain Girard to varry the man into the hotel. After a short struggle the would-be assassin gave up and was carried without resistance out of the reach of the crowd.

Iowa Park Notes.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother at 5:30 Sunday afternoon when Miss Safronia Love was united in marrige to Mr. Walter Denny. Rev. H. B. Johnson officiated and Miss Lillian Sisk played the wedding march. Quite a number of relatives were present. The house was beautifully decorated with trailing vines. The bride looked very pretty in a white satin gown and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony a three-course six o'clock dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Denny will leave Tuesday for Quanah, where they will make their home.

The little child of R. W. Woods and wife died Thursday afternoon after an illness of a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson leave today for their home in California, after a ten days' visit with Mrs Johnson's brothers, Messrs. Hubert and Ed Terhune.

Miss Gertie Denny went down to Wichita Friday returning Sunday.

R. L. Fowlkes' father and sister of Schulenberg, Texas, are visiting him

Miss Clara Lowrance left last week for Micaville, N. C. where she goes as a teacher in the mission school in the mountains.

Mrs. Julius Dotefs and baby returned to her home at Fort Worth Sunday after a few days visit here

Quite a number of Mexicans came in on last night's train and were taken out in wagons to the cotton fields south of the Wichita Falls this morning.

TOM PICKETT IS INDICTED

TRUE BILL FOUND AGAINST OFFICER IN CONNECTION WITH COTTLE COUNTY KILLING

GIVES BOND PROMPTLY

Warrant Served on Pickett and Col. Burnett in Fort Worth Sunday

A sequel to the killing at Paducah last summer of Farley Sears, a prominent ranchman, has come in the indictment by the Motley county grand jury of S. B. (Burk) Burnett of Fort Worth and Constable Tom Pickett of this city, against whom true bills were returned recently.

Service was secured on both of the defendants at Fort Worth, where Mr. Burnett made bond in the sum of $40,000 and Pickett in the sum of $10,000. Friends of Mr. Burnett signed both the bonds.

The trials have been set for the April term of court at Paducah.

Constable Pickett was with Col Burnett in Paducah at the time of the tragedy, having been in the employ of the Fort Worth ranchman in various capacities previous to the shooting. Sears was killed at the little hotel in Paducah. After the shooting Burnett was released on bond to await grand jury action, which was taken last week.

The indictment of Pickett comes as a surprise for although he was known to be with Col. Burnett in Paducah, no facts have been made public to connect him with the shooting. He returned here today from Fort Worth.

IS WORSE THAN FIRST THOUGHT

to assert themselves again,' said Dr Terrell. "I expect his fine physical condition to bring him through"

The hero of the attempted assassination of Col Roosevelt, the man who is given the credit for having prevented Schrank from firing the second shot, is Elbert E. Martin, the colonel's personal stenographer. All through the present tour, Martin has been alway, at the colonel's elbow, pushing obstrusive persons away. More than once, Col. Roosevelt has reproved him for being "too rough"

In Saginaw, Mich, where Martin threw himself against a man who was reaching forward, and shoved him in to the gutter, he was rebuked by Col Roosevelt. Martin declares the man at Saginaw and Schrank are the same

Last night in Milwaukee, Martin was at the colonel's elbow. Henry F. Cochems was on the other side.

"You get into the car first," said Cochems to Martin, and it was necessary for the colonel to take the middle seat.

"No, you go first," replied Martin.

The politeness gave him the opportunity to engrave his name on the roll of fame for Cochems was out of reach when the shot was fired and Martin was right at hand. Schrank was within seven feet of the colonel when he raised his hand with the gun in it, leveled at Roosevelt's breast.

He fired. In an instant Martin leaped on him hurling him to the ground. One of Martin's arms was twisted about Schrank's neck.

"I saw Martin leap on the man like a wild animal," said Cochems, who himself seized the assassin a second later. "Martin dashed him to the ground, twisting the man's head back. Martin's free hand was grasping the revolver around the hammer, so the weapon could not be fired."

Martin is a football player and Schranks was no match for him. He tried dexterously to pull the trigger of his weapon, but Martin held the barrel pointed harmlessly toward the sky. Cochems and a special police wrenched the gun away from Schrank and then the angry crowd surged forward.

Martin and Cochems joined in dragging Schrank to safety under Colonel Roosevelt's protection.

Martin is twenty-nine. He joined the Roosevelt staff August 16, by the simple process of walking into the headquarters and asking for a job. He was given it, and soon after was made the colonel's personal stenographer. Col. Roosevelt likes aggressive men around him.

"That young man looks as if he had the stuff," he said of Martin, and how the stenographer "made good" was shown last night. He is an expert stenographer and a lawyer, having graduated in 1912.

GREECE SENDS AN ULTIMATUM

DEMANDS RELEASE OF VESSELS SEIZED BY TURKEY WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

WAR ALMOST CERTAIN

Turkey Continues Preparations for Aggressive Warfare While Fighting Continues

London, Oct. 14.—General war in the Balkans cannot be delayed much longer, in the opinion of authoritative circles here. Greece has handed an ultimatum to Turkey demanding the release within twenty four hours of the Greek vessels which Turkey has seized in large numbers. It is believed the Turkish government will decline to do this and its refusal will be followed immediately by the recall of the Greek minister to Turkey which will be the signal for war between the two countries.

Fighting continues all along the Montenegro frontier

Both Sides Lost Heavily.

London, Oct. 14.—That the Montenegrin troops lost one hundred killed and wounded in their attack on the town of Byelopolye in the Sanjak of the Novcipazar, is stated in the official report of the battle received by the Montenegrin consul general here. The Turkish troops who fled after the battle to Sitnitza are said to have suffered heavily. The reports also confirms heavy losses by the Montenegrin columns under Martinovitch. It says that his advance guard encountered a body of Turkish troops and these are reported to have lost 300 killed and wounded during the battle, while the Montenegrin causualties were one hundred.

Gen. Martinovitch burned several Turkish block houses put their garrisons to flight and then crossed the River Boyama.

Turkey Making Preparation.

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—Whether for the purposes of furnishing provocation for war or to show the Balkan allies that Turkey can not be intimidated, the government is acting with an aggressiveness calculated to bring on hostilities. The embargo on Greek ships, the detention of Servian ammunition and seizure of Bulgarian railway cars all constitute belligerent acts.

Greek and Bulgarian Nationals in Constantinople, numbering a thousand or more, have been subjected to treatment designed to irritate these two Nations. Financial considerations figure largely in the attitude of the Turkish government and practically all of the many hundreds of Greeks who are returning to Athens are compelled to pay full taxes to the end of the year before they are permitted to embark. Even the crews of Greek ships, which were seized, have been halted before the Prefects and made to pay a year's tax, as though they were Turkish subjects. Many Greeks have been arrested on the charge of being deserting reservists and they can procure their release only by paying the military exemption tax.

Turkey's action, however, is less arbitrary than would seem, because members of the Greeks hold both Hellenic and Turkish passports to obtain the advantages of both nationalities, and they now have to shoulder the responsibilities of both

The government is determined to expel all Balkarians and Greek subjects as soon as war is declared and these will be transported by some of the steamers which have been detained for that purpose. Trouble is probable over the seizures, as most of the cargoes are foreign owned although the vessels flew the Greek flag and the owners will claim damages

NO TAINT ON WILSON'S FUND

NOT A DOLLAR REFLECTS ANY PROMISE EXPRESS OR IMPLIED SAYS McCOMBS

$208,000 WAS SPENT

McCombs Tells of Campaign of Education Preceding Baltimore Convention

$2,000 IN TWO HOURS

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 14.—Two thousand dollars was raised in two hours this morning for the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund by a committee of four Dallas men, headed by Former Mayor S. J. Hay. It was all raised in Dallas, and was all above the amount Dallas originally was asked to contribute.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., Oct 14.—Williams F. McCombs of New York, chairman of the aNtional Democratic committee, was the first witness today before the Clapp committee investigating campaign funds. McCombs said $208,000 had been contributed to the fund this year in behalf of Governor Wilson's nominatino.

"I began this campaign for Governor Wilson in May 1911," he said, "for the first month or two the campaign was directed from my own office and I paid the expenses out of my own pocket. Then I established headquarters in New York. I think I spent about $10,000 myself. McCombs said that the greatest part of his funds were expended for publicity.

"We had to acquaint the people of the United States with Gov. Wilson," he said, "and a wide campaign of agitation was necessary. There is not a dollar in that statement of campaign funds, which reflects any promise, express or implied, on my part."

Alton B. Parker was questioned about expenditures of the 1904 campaign. He said he had no knowledge of contributions to the Democratic fund, but had given instructions that nothing be accepted from corporations. Mr. Parker said he had only hearsay evidence about Republican contributions of 1904, and had based his charges of that year on that evidence.

On October 23, he had been informed by an old friend that he was "licked." This friend had told him of the details of an organization formed against him and mentioned the names of E. H. Harriman, James Stillman, H. C. Frick, G. W. Perkins and Robert Bacon, as members of such an organization.

TWENTY CONVICTS DASH FOR LIBERTY

JIM DALTON LEADS BAND OF CONVICTS FROM WYOMING PENITENTIARY AT RAWLINGS

ELEVEN STILL AT LARGE

Prisoners Break Through Fence and Seize Horses and Ride into Canyon

Rawlings, Wyo., Oct. 12.—Twenty prisoners broke out of the state penitentiary this afternoon. Five were quickly recaptured and the remainder took to the hills, pursued by a posse headed by Warden Alston.

The break was led by the notorious Jim Dalton, member of the Whitney gang of bank robbers. They escaped through a broken fence in the penitentiary yard. Eleven are still at large late tonight and the possibility of their recapture is remote.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon from the penitentiary there burst a bedlam of shouts of convicts and through the streets nineteen men in prison uniform ran in a body. Horses tethered in front of stores were seized by the leaders who broke them at break neck speed through the town and away to the hills

Four of the fugitives hiding in a canyon north of Rawlings were caught half an hour after the outbreak and a fifth was captured while making for the railroad track. Four were discovered in a barn within a block of the prison. Three were cornered in another canyon a mile west of town by mounted pursuers, but have not been taken

The twentieth convict escaped in the excitement after the break.

NO PEACE RAYS FROM WAR CLOUD

CRACKLINGS ALONG TURKISH MONTENEGRIN BORDER BUT FUSE FOR EXPECTED EXPLOSION

BALKAN CLASH AT HAND

Powers Helpless to Avert It and General European Clash Not Improbable

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 12.—The war cloud has settled over Europe heavily and gloomily. No rays of peace strike through from any quarter

Montenegro continues to assail the Turkish forces, but the crackling along that border are merely firecrackers compared with the general explosion which is confidently expected within another week. The historic concert of Europe, in the supreme test, has failed to suppress the Balkan clash, which it averted time after time in the past quarter of a century

The final exhibition of the helplessness of the great powers was given in the collective note to Turkey published today. That note which was the best they could devise after earnest negotiations, merely states they will discuss reform with the sublime porte and gives no promise of any result which might placate the Slav nations.

The Turkish cabinet has been engaged in framing a reply to the note but at the same time, the Sultan foreshadowed the nature of the reply by the issuance of a procalamation for a general mobilization, which is a formal notification of what Turkey has been doing for the last fortnight, and an exhortation to the army to fight worthily.

Greece is equally above board in her preparations. Crown Prince Constantine left Athens today to take command of the army.

Vienna advices say Turkey will mass 450,000 men against Bulgaria and leave only two divisions to oppose Montenegro. Turkey apparently is willing to sacrifice her outposts on that border for the time being.

Latest advices from Todgoritza say the Montenegrins have occupied the town of Tushi, and that many men have been killed on both sides.

Mobilization of the Greek army has been successful beyond expectation. About 125,000 troops will be concentrated on the frontier by Monday and another 30,000 is being equipped. The mobilization centers of the government are overwhelmed with volunteers and it has been decided to enroll no more recruits at present.

The Austro-Hungarian press accuse Russia of secretly backing the combination against Turkey. Europe is amazed at Turkey's failure to accept the Italian peace terms at this critical moment, and is also worried because in Italy's participation in the war, there is danger of drawing in other powers.

Financial Market Demoralized at Berlin

By Associated Press

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The financial market of Berlin was so thoroughly demoralized today that official and financial circles were forced to interfere. The government sent repeated assurances that there was no danger of complications outside the Balkans

Officers of big banks helped to check the decline with buying orders. Prices fell from one to four points in government's, two points in bank stock, and from twenty to twenty-five points in industrial shares.

Montenegrins Attack Lenitza

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—Montenegrin forces have crossed the border into Nozipaizar and are now attacking Seinitza, according to official information received here today. Seinitza is a town close to the Servia frontier.

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pendergrass, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles.

Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint.

I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately. Now, I can do my work all the time, and don't suffer like I did."

Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired, miserable, or under the weather. Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women.

It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times.

Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs.

Its half century of success is due to merit. It has done good to thousands. Will you try it? It may be just what you need. Ask your druggist about Cardui. He will recommend it.

PROPER USE OF FATS

SHOULD BE KEPT SEPARATELY AFTER HOME RENDERING.

German Housewives Have Good Method With Suet—Old-Fashioned Manner of Clarifying Fat From the Soup Kettle.

Fats that are derived from the cooking of bacon, ham, chicken, beef and other meats should be kept, each in its own receptacle, to be used for different purposes

Home rendering of both suet and leaf lard has its advantages, because the product is generally superior to what can be bought for the same price.

Both suet and leaf lard require cooking in order to loosen the fat from the tougher membrane that holds it. For this purpose the material is cut in small pieces and covered with water and allowed to cook slowly for some time until no more water remains and the scrap has turned to a light brown

A better method for suet is that used by German housewives, who economize on butter by the use of beef fat more than do American housekeepers. The suet is cut in small pieces and covered with water, in which it is allowed to soak for a day, the water being changed once in the time. It is then drained and put into an iron kettle with one half tea cup of skim milk to every pound of the suet. It should be cooked very slowly.

When it has partly cooked it should be carefully poured off. This fat has no unpleasant taste or odor, and in many recipes may be substituted for part of the butter. Some cooks add a pound of leaf lard to four or five of the suet; this makes a softer fat, as lard has a lower melting pound than beef fat.

An old-fashioned method of clarifying fat from the soup kettle, or from cooked meats, so that it may be used in the kitchen, is to add the cold fat to a liberal quantity of cold water, then heat slowly and let cook for an hour or more. When cold, the cake of fat is removed and the lower portion, which will contain the small particles of meat, etc., should be scraped away, and the white, clean fat saved. If the flavor or color of both are not satisfactory the process may be repeated several times. Another method which is often recommended is to cook a number of slices of raw potato in the boiling fat.

When an ice chest is used, fat in small quantities may be easily kept sweet for cooking purposes. If lard is rendered at home in quantity sufficient for a long time, it should be kept covered in tins or earthen jars, in a cool, dry place.

Mustard Pickle.

One large head of cauliflower, one quart of white button onions, one dozen dill pickles, two quarts of vinegar, one teaspoonful mustard seed, two teaspoonfuls celery seed, two cupfuls of sugar, three-quarters of a cup of flour, one quarter of a pound of ground mustard, one tablespoonful of turmeric powder. Divide cauliflower in pieces and boil it and the onions in salted water until about half done, drain, cut up dill pickles; mix flour, mustard and turmeric with a little cold water and add this to the boiling vinegar in which the sugar and celery and mustard seeds have been placed. Let boil for five minutes, then pour over the pickle. This makes about one gallon of fine mustard pickle and is easy to prepare.

Rhubarb Flummery.

Peel and cut up 2½ pounds of rhubarb; put in a basin with a little cold water, not enough to quite cover it, place a plate over the top and cook it until soft in the oven. Dissolve one heaping tablespoonful of powdered gelatin in half a cup of boiling water, add strained juice of rhubarb and stir until dissolved. With a wooden spoon rub the cooked rhubarb through a sieve, then add to gelatin, with seven tablespoonsfuls of whipped cream and eight tablespoonsfuls of sugar. Set this on the fire to reheat, but do not allow to boil, stirring all the time. Pour into wet moulds, turn out when firm and serve with custard around them.

Orange Cake.

Two cups sugar, one-half cup cold water, two and one-half cups flour, one half teaspoon soda, pinch salt, one teaspoon cream tartar, five eggs, keeping out two whites, one orange, grated rind and juice, beat egg whites to a stiff froth and fold in after other ingredients all well beaten. Bake in two layers and put together with boiled frosting, made with two cups sugar, the juice of one orange and whites of two eggs.

Tomato Pie.

One pint of chopped green tomatoes, five apples chopped, two cups of sugar, one cup of molasses, one-half cup of vinegar, three tablespoons of flour, spice of all kinds. Put whole raisins and bits of butter on top before putting on the upper crust. Makes one large or two small pies.

Banana Sherbet.

Boil three pints of water and three cups of sugar for ten minutes, then strain and chill. Strain the juice from three lemons and two large oranges, add the pulp of three bananas pressed through a sieve, stir in the chilled strup, pack in salt and ice, freeze and let stand one or more hours to ripen.

The Times extra this morning telling of the attempt to assassinate Ex-President Roosevelt was only another evidence that the Times can be depended on for the news. Its telegraphic news service is unsurpassed by any newspaper anywhere in cities of two or three times the population of Wichita Falls. If it happens, the Times prints it. If you are not a subscriber, then let us enroll your name.

The atempt to assassinate ex-President Roosevelt, deplorable as such things are, should not cause any man who has made up his mind to vote for Wilson or Taft to change his vote. Doubtless the man who fired the shot was an anarchist. Either that or a crazy or demented man, and neither Wilson or Taft or the political parties who are backing them can be held responsible for the acts of the would-be assassin.

This is the day appointed for the committee designated by the citizens mass meeting to make its report on the new city charter, but so far as the Times is aware the committee has not yet finished its work. Wichita Falls needs and must have a new city charter that will give to the city government authority to provide for means with which to make additional and necessary public improvements. Little or nothing along that line can be accomplished under the present charter, and it will not do to retard the progress of the city by stopping where we are. The Times hopes that within the next few days the committee will be ready to make its report by submitting a draft of the new proposed city charter to the citizens and tax payers for their adoption or rejection.

Pearsall News: "The News is in receipt of a copy of a small, little paper published in Kansas by the one who has discovered that there is no God and that man has no soul, and that life ceases in each person forever when death removes him from earth. The publisher and editor of the infidel paper referred to offers his services free of charge to furnish any article that we might care to print regarding his wonderful (?) discovery, sending with each issue of his paper a blank whereby we can make our will to leave to him and his teachings our money that he may be enabled to enlighten the world by proclaiming that there is no God, and that we who believe there is are fools. We would like to have one article from this wise gent—only one—telling that he has found Him who rules, teaches and guides the world, and that another poor wandering one has been led into the fold. There are lots of sorry ways to make a sorry living, but probably there is on earth no sorrier way than that of being a professional infidel.—State Press in Dallas News.

Loyalty to one's own town is always appreciated. In reply to an invitation to visit the State Fair at Dalas, this is the way the editor of the eMnard Messenger made reply: "I have the time and plenty of money to enable e to join the gang in your city on Press Day and visit the Fair but I am so deeply in love with Menard that I cannot think of tearing myself away for the purpose." That is the way many of the Texas editors felt about it, which probably accounts for the absence of so many on that day. Generally speaking an editor of a newspaper has more time than anything else, but if he is the right sort he can generally manage to devote most of it to promoting the interests of his own town and incidentally the interest of his newspaper rather than by taking advantage of every invitation that is sent him. It also enables him to meet his just obligations more promptly and have the ghost regularly every Saturday night at the printshop over whose destinies he is supposed to preside. If there were more editors who could practice this self-denial of pleasures the per cent of newspaper failures would be considerably lessened.

SCIENTIFIC RATE MAKING

Those newspapers and individuals critics of the State Insurance Board and the law which created it and defined its powers were in the opinion of the Record very shortsighted. If we remember correctly the Wichita Falls Times was among those who criticised the new law because fire insurance rates were raised in that city. Any one familiar with conditions in Wichita Falls knows that fire risks there are notoriously hazardous because of the large number of rooming houses, saloons and restaurants. Naturally where such conditions obtain, property owners should expect to pay a higher rate of insurance because of the greater risk involved. This is not intended as a criticism or knock upon our sister city but we refer to it only for purposes of illustration. What is true of Wichita aFlls is true of many other cities of Texas. And the individuals who have been heard to denounce the rating board were almost invariably kicking because their rates had been raised, or because they had been enjoying a low rate extended as a favor for some reason or other from the insurance company carrying the risk.

In a former editorial on the subject the Record made the statement that the Board is to the insurance business just what the Railroad Commission of Texas is to the transportation business, and it is manifestly just as subversive business ethics to permit special rates to favored customers by insurance companies as it would be to permit the granting of rebates to favored shippers by railroads, thus giving an unfair advantage over less favored competitors. It should also be borne in mind that these favors always go to the big shipper or the big insurer, and in the case of insurance the small home owner pays an excessive rate in order that the man with a large amount of business could enjoy a low rate. Under the new law a town is rated and each risk is rated, the rate being determined in both instances by the hazard, and the Board rate cannot be deviated from, doing away with rate juggling on the part of agents. When a risk is rated the hazard and protection from fire determine the rate. Thus, a rate is high or low in proportion to whether it is a bad or good risk, and if a business man insists on keeping empty boxes or trash about his place he must pay for the privilege. But his rate is reduced as he diminishes the danger of fire by removing combustibles.

This is what the Record means by scientific ratemaking—that is, let the condition of each risk determine its own rate. There is no justice in lumping risks and applying an average rate to all. This system is a modified form was formerly used in making rates and under it there was no incentive to diminish the danger of fire so far as rates were concerned. Under the new system it rests with each individual town and property owner what kind of insurance rates they wish to pay.

There is another point in the present system quite as important as rates though impossible to compute in dollars and cents, and that is conservation. Fire above all else is waste, and one of the best results of the scientific making of rates is that it encourages and teaches us to conserve property by teaching methods of fire prevention. The Board has taken an important step in this direction by offering a reduction of one per cent in the key rate of every town "for teaching, in all public schools, the principles of fire insurance methods of fire prevention from some standard and reliable text book or work on the subject." We teach our boys and girls how to preserve plant life, how to conserve moisture in the soil and the value of eliminating waste industry. Why not also teach them fire prevention as a matter of economy? Statistics show that a great majority of fires are preventible.

A recent bulletin of the Board announces that towns will be granted reductions in key rates based upon good loss records, and this will be of inestimable value as an incentive for towns and cities to employ every means in preventing and extinguishing fires. The order became effective Sept. 20 and dates back over a period of three calendar years. It is believed that under it Vernon will be able to secure a reduction in her key rate. The figures are being prepared and will be forwarded to the Board as soon as possible.

The Record would also like to see the suggestion about teaching the principles of fire insurance and fire prevention put into effect in our city schools. The reduction of one per cent in the key rate would be well worth the trouble.

The above is clipped from the Vernon Record, edited by Mr. J. Ray, and it reads very nice. The Times, however, knows whereof it speaks when it makes the assertion that all this talk and agitation of 'scientific rate making,' doesn't mean anything except this, the present fire insurance law is a too one-sided law and gives to the insurance companies entirely too many excuses to increase fire insurance rates. There is little if anything to the contention the Record makes that the reason for raising the rates in Wichita Falls is attributable to so many saloons and boarding houses. There has never been a day since Wichita Falls was an organized city that the city has not had as many saloon and rooming houses (population considered) as there are at present, and yet the rates for fire insurance contiue to go up. In fact there are blocks right in the business section with not a saloon in them and that have no greater number of rooming houses than for any previous time. Yet under the key-rate law, fire insurance has been raised, and in the face of the fact that the city government has taxed itself thousands of dollars in equipping its fire fighting department and complying with other regulations suggested by fire insurance companies with the promise that when suggested regulations were complied with the fire insurance rates would be materially lowered. But we only get another raise, and the Times has about concluded the present law was made (whether intentionally or not) for the purpose of giving to the insurance companies all the latitude they desired in which to revise the rates, and in Wichita Falls they alive neglected no opportunity in using that advantage.

For this reason the Times endorses heartily the plank in the Democratic platform adopted at San Antonio for the repeal of that one sided fire insurance law, and it believes this will be done at the meeting of the next legislature.

As to what effect this will have the Times does not know. Neither does it care. Conditions could not possibly be made much worse, and even if they are, it cannot then be charged that the people of Texas themselves shall longer be placed in the attitude of being wholly responsible for the enactment of a law that gives to the insurance companies a free hand to demand the payment of unreasonable and unjust fire insurance rates, or comply with their unreasonable and unfair regulations in order to get a rate that is just and and reasonable. Repeal the law, and if necessary make another that will be just to both the fire insurance companies and those who pay the insurance.

The ballots to be voted on November 5th will be by far the largest ever before used at an election in Texas. It will require a sheet of paper 17x22 inches to carry all of the seven tickets of the seven different political parties. On the first column will be the Democratic ticket headed by the Democratic presidential electors. The ticket of the Progressive party comes next; then the Republican, Prohibition, Socialist and Independent ticket, with one column with only the title or names of the offices on it there being blank spaces left for the writing in of the names of candidates. At the bottom of the tickets will be the amendments to be voted for or against. If the law in Texas was like it is in many states it would require the publication of the ballot a few days in advance of the election in one or more newspapers in each county of the State, in order to acquaint the voter how to make out his ballot. But there is no such law and as a result there will be many who will go to the polls to vote on election day who will not know whether they have marked their ballot correctly or not. This is one more serious defect in the Terrell election law that should be remedied at the first opportunity.

I don't suppose it is really necessary to remind our readers that Tuesday the 15th is circus day, and our merchants may expect the biggest crowd of people here since the last big circus passed this way. The best way in which to get the attention of the crowd is by planting an ad in Monday's Times.

The Times notes from a New York paper that Hon Sam Bell Thomas who for the past few years has not been wearing his Democracy straight has come back into the fold and is making speeches for the Democratic nominee for the governor of that state. His many Wichita friends will doubtless be glad to learn that he is once more a Democrat. It never seemed quite natural to think of him 'fussing' with the Republicans, especially after looking back a few years and reading editorials he used to write for the Times in which he could hardly find words to express his contempt for a man who would even think of voting the Republican ticket.

Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt as much as some of us Democrats dislike him, is nevertheless one of the greatest men in the United States, and has done much that will perpetuate his memeory, but beyond a question of doubt the one greatest thing he has seemingly accomplished is that of killing the Republican party. For this we feel like getting down on our knees and thanking him most devoutly. That party has ruled long enough and of late years it rules has been both tyranical and rotten to the core. If Wilson should be elected (and nearly all Democrats and some Republicans believe he will be), the government at Washington will be in the hands of a man who will owe his electio nto that great office by reason of the fact that the people have become thoroughly disgusted with Republican rule, and Roosevelt, more than any other one man, has produced the facts that has caused this general and widespread lack of confidence on the part of the people that prevails throughout most every state in the Union. While the Democrats stand united and solid for Wilson Roosevelt has taken from the Republican party its biggest half, which gives to the Democrats by far the best opportunity they have had in years to come into power. The only thing that can keep them from doing this is their over-confidence and lack of campaign funds.

It is indeed unfortunate that the campaign of education for fire prevention in Texas was begun at a time when the fire insurance companies through the state board, were raising rates at every opportunity. The more the people took precautions to prevent fires, it seemed the higher the rate was raised and this could not but discourage fire prevention efforts. However, there has been indicated a tendency to lower the rate where precautionary measures are taken to reduce the risk. If this is done the people will take up the matter of fire prevention with more enthusiasm. So it is, there probably won't be any general observance of Fire Prevention Day tomorrow.—Wichita Times.

Give the devil—er, give the state board its due, friend Times. The educational campaign for fire prevention resulted chiefly from the fact that the board raised the rates because of laxness, carelessness and indifference. Thus were the uses of adversity sweet. It is not quite the fact that as condition grew better the rates grew worse. And now the board offers reduction inducements for saner methods of prevention. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their insurance rates. Let us do the board the credit of believing that its means were justified by the end it had in view. The campaign for education in fire prevention will thrive much better on the inducement offered than it will by ballooning the rates.—Waco Morning News.

The rating board never seemed to think that the man who paid the rate had any rights or say in the matter of making rates until the Democratic party of Texas took notice of the great injustice being done in the name of the law, and demanded that that law should be repealed or wiped out. So let it be done. The people, as individuals appealed repeatedly to the board for relief but instead of getting what they asked for were given another raise in insurance rates. But just as soon as the Democratic party in convention took notice of the great injustice being done, the board got busy, and are now doing what it was asked to do before the matter was carried over the head of the board direct to the Democratic party.

Two thousand dollars for the Wilson fund was raised in two hour time in Dallas today. That is a good showing for the Democrats of that city. If all other towns cities and villages in the state could make just half as good showing as that, Texas alone could pay the expenses of the National Democratic campaign.

The Electra Weekly Times is to be issued daily. Here's hoping the enterprising publishers have not made the mistake so common to newspaper men that of getting out a daily on patronage that is only about equal to keep going a first-class weekly. But Electra is a growing little city and her enterprise and push is of that quality that can stand the strain a daily paper can be made a success. The new enterprise has the best wishes of this paper.

Wichita Falls is to have two more new church structures to take the place of the buildings now in use that should have been abandoned years ago. The Times is glad to note that those two congregations, the First Presbyterian and the Christian church have finally determined to make these improvements. Good substantial church buildings add much to the appearance of a city and it is safe to say that those two new churches will be in keeping with the progress of Wichita Falls.

Factories build cities, and Wichita Falls is getting the factories at a rate, that if kept up as at present will result in the doubling of her population within the next three years. This will mean that within three years from now Wichita Falls will be in the class of cities of 20,000 population or more. Therefore in making improvements of a public nature, let's make them with a view of fitting a city of the 20,000 poulation class. It will be difficult, if not entirely impossible to make improvements that will be in accord with the progress and enterprise of the city under the present city charter, and if these needed improvements are made a new city charter will have to be obtained. This matter will soon be up to the tax-payers for consideration, and the Times has the utmost confidence that they will act favorably upon the proposition.

Gov. Wilson has cancelled all his speaking dates excepting those of Friday and Saturday of this week which could not be very well cancelled. He did this on account of the fact that Colonel Roosevelt, one of his leading opponents has been the victim of a would-be assassin, and therefore will not be in a position to answer any argument that Gov. Wilson might make to convince the people that they should elect him as their president instead of Roosevelt. This action on the part of our Democratic presidential nominee is highly commendable in that he would rather forfeit the presidency than make speeches to gain it while one of his opponent is on a sick bed. That is what we call playing the game square and win or lose it was the right course to pursue under the circumstance. As for President Taft, he has not yet said what would be his course.

Heretofore Republicans have generally managed to settle their differences and get together by the time election rolls around, but the prospects of such an outcome of their scrap at this election does not look so bright Roosevelt does not hesitate to say that he was defrauded out of the Republican presidential nomination by theft on the part of the followers of Taft, and we here in Texas, Democrats we mean who have no reason to take sides in the scrap, know that there is truth in what Roosevelt says along that line. That a great majority of the Texas Republicans were in favor of the nomination of Roosevelt before the Republican National Convention was held there is not the slightest doubt, and even now it looks as if a majority of them are still of that way of thinking. As to how they will vote is another question.

We believe we are not particularly lazy about the house but we certainly looking forward to the time when we can heat our home and cook our food without the onerus necessity of the head of the house splitting kindling, carrying in the wood and coal and horrors! toting out the ashes. In other words it will only be a few more weeks now until we'll have gas at our disposal.—Denton Record Chronicle.

Brother Edwards can't really know the nicety and convenience of gas until he has used it. He can jump out of bed on a frosty morning, light a match, turn on the gas and have a red hot fire going almost before he can say "Jack Robinson." It's almost as soft a snap as laying abed while your wife builds the fires. We can tell you there's some joy in having natural gas and another thing the field here which supplies all the gas for north Texas has never shown any signs of weakening. The flow is just as strong when the mercury is down at the bottom of the tube as it is in summer heat. Why, if they would turn on all of the force of gas at the wells at Petrolia it would blow all the pipes out of the ground in Denton. Brother Edwards is surely getting fixed up for a nice soft, warm life.

HEALTH AND HOSPITAL SUNDAY

Sunday, October 27, has been proclaimed as Health and Hospital Sunday in Wichita Falls, and it has been suggested that then would be a good time to start a movement for the erection of a public hospital here. The time would certainly be appropriate for the inauguration of such a movement and it could be very properly inaugurated in the churches or at mass meeting in the afternoon.

The matter, of course, is one that is up to the people and the suggestion is made for their consideration.

Governor Colquitt has issued a proclamation setting apart the above mentioned date. His proclamation follows:

Health and Hospital Sunday, October 27, 1912.

To the People of Texas:

"During the past five years the public health workers have set aside one day each year for the consideration of matters pertaining to the public health. This day has been variously known as 'Tuberculosis Sunday,' 'Health Sunday' and by other names. This year Sunday, October 27, has been designated as the day when the people of America are asked to give consideration to the condition of their own health, and the health of their families, to a study of the public health of the cities in which they live and to consider means for the prevention of disease. In Texas this day will be known as 'Health and Hospital Sunday,' and it is designated to attract public atention to the fact that the hospital facilities for the care of the sick, and the prevention of communicable disease are woefully inadequate. Tuberculosis and other communicable diseases should be treated in hospitals for their protection of the community and every county in the state should have a general hospital for the care of the indigent sick and injured with special and separate provision for tuberculosis and other communicable diseases.

"Now, therefore, I, O. B. Colquitt, Governor of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me under the laws o fthis State, do hereby designate Sunday, October 27, as Health and Hospital Sunday, and call upon the people of Texas to attend divine service on that day for the purpose of hearing discourses on this subject, I ask the clergy of the church to preach to the people on this day on the importance of good health. If the ritual of the church forbids consideration of this matter on Sunday, I ask that the subject be considered on some day preceding or following October 27. I urge upon the County Commissioners of the various counties of Texas serious consideration for the needs of their county in the matter of hospital provision for the sick, both as a matter of commun humanity and for the prevention of disease.

"O. B. COLQUITT,
"Governor of Texas.

"By the Governor
"C. C. McDonald,
"Secretary of State."

Displays at State Fair.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 16.—The packing houses of Fort Worth have expended at least $5,000 in making their exhibits at the State Fair, this year the leading features in the manufacturing building. A large reproduction of a window containing all the products manufactured by its Texas plants is offered for inspection by the Armour Company. Lards, oils, meats, stock and poultry feeds, bone and hair products, fertilizers and all by-products of live stock occupy a prominent position, while in the background is an excellent duplication of the Fort Worth plant and stock yards, showing the hogs and cattle on the way to slaughter. At the eastern extremity of the window, Galveston looms up. The Galves Hotel, seawell, prominent buildings and the celbrated causeway are here reproduced. A steam railroad, representing the direct connection between FortWorth and the Gulf, connects the two cities and a train of Armour refrigerator cars operate along the line. Airships are seen flying around together with many steamships plying between Galveston and the briny deep. Swift & Company's display consists of a mineature delicatassen. Tables and attractively arranged upon which are placed students lamps and pretty white table cloths. Dishes of appetizing meats, decorated with parsley and lettuce leaves behoove the most skeptical to pause and wonder at the marvelous ingenuity of the modern packer in the way of sanitary as well as attractive packages for their products, and the meats, even in their raw states are enticing to the eye and appetite. A small corp of attendants is in charge of the displays and every attention is given the visitors.

Denton Flour Shipped to Cuba.

Denton, Texas, Oct. 16.—Waldo Blewitt, manager of the Denton Milling Company will leave this week for Havana, Cuba, where he will open negotiations with a jobber in that city to handle flour manufacturing in this city. It is expected that around 500 barrels a week will be shipped to Havana and there distributed throughout the island. The mill now has a daily capacity of 250 barrels but improvements will be made in the near future to greatly increase the output.

THE CIRCUS WALK.

My pa just talks about hard times,
No money, and all that;
But when the circus comes to town,
His pocket book is fat
For overybody's rich that day,
And 'taint no use to talk;
You just can't hold the people down,
When they've got the circus walk.

Pa said he didn't care for crowds,
He thought he wouldn't go;
But a string of horses two miles long
Couldn't have kept him from th' show.
He smiled at ladies all the way,
And 'taint no use to talk;
I hardly knew my pa at all,
When he had the circus walk.

And me she left her specs at home,
And didn't care a bit;
She'd see that circus, anyhow—
Oh, ma's got lots of grit.
That is, she's got it once a year,
And 'taint no use to talk;
Pa always lets her have her way
When she's got the circus walk.

Grandpa lost his rheumatiz,
And stepped off like a dandy;
I saw him standing on the street
Eating peanut candy.
Yes, grandpa was a boy again,
And 'taint no use to talk;
He limbered up his joints for once,
While he had the circus walk.
Oh, circus day is a happy time;
And you can mark it down
That everybody's full of joy
When the circus comes to town.
They're happy and they're smiling, too
And 'taint no use to talk;
You're mighty glad to be alive,
When you've got the circus walk.

BOSTON TEAM WINS WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Hendrickson went in as a pinch hitter in place of Bedient and delivered the goods with a two-bagger scoring Stahl and bringing unstinted joy to the Boston fans. Hooper flied out to Snodgrass. One run, two hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING.

New York—Wood went in the box for Boston. Stahl captured Murray's grounder. Merkle went out, Yerkes to Stahl. Herzog singled to right field and Meyers went out, Yerkes to Stahl No runs, one hit, no errors.

Boston—Yerkes was out at first when his grounder bounced from Mathewson's hands to Herzog, who threw the runner out at first. Speaker went out, Doyle to Merkle and Lewis was out, Fletcher to Merkle No runs, no hits, no errors.

NINTH INNING.

New York—McCormick was sent in to bat for Fletcher and flied out to Lewis. Mathewson fanned, Devore walked. Doyle walked. Devore went out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, no hits no errors.

Boston—Shafer replaced Fletcher for New York. Gardner filed out to Snodgrass. Stahl set the home fans delirious with joy with a two-bagger to left field, but Wagner and Cady went out on flies to Doyle and Murray and the crowd settled grimly back to await the extra innings. No runs one hit, no errors.

TENTH INNING.

New York—Snodgrass was an easy out, Wood to Stahl. Murray hit for two bases. Mergle singled to center field and Murray scored. Speaker fumbled the ball and Merkle took second. The New York rooting section was in a frenzy of delight. Herzog struck out Meyers went out, Wood to Stahl. One run, two hits, one error.

Boston—The home fans begged hard for a run, as th eBoston players came in to bat. Engle was sent in to bat for Wood and sent Snodgrass a high one; the fielder dropped it and the runner camped on second. The fans cheered wildly, hopefully, pleadingly. Hooper flied to Snodgrass and Yerkes walked. Merkle and Meyers allowed Speaker's foul to drop between them. Speaker sent riotous and unbounded happiness into the Boston bleachers by a long drive to right on which Engle scored and Yerkes went to third. Lewis walked and the bases were full with one out. The Boston fans began an unbroken cheering that made a terrific din. Gardner sent a high fly to Devore, and as it was seen that the fielder would catch it, Yerkes at third braced himself for the spring that might win or lose a world's championship. As the ball struck Devore's glove, Yerkes ran. Devore threw on the instant and the ball sailed for home. Yerkes left his feet and his lithe form shot like a streak for the plate. The ball came bounding in—too late.

News From the Oil Fields

About sixty of the oil men who make this city their headquarters met Friday night at the Westland, following the Progressive League's luncheon and perfected the organization of an Oil Man's Association. Another meeting will be held on Friday of next week, at which time a constitution and by-laws will be adopted.

Officers were elected Friday night as follows: President, G. Clint Woods; vice president, W. G. Skelley; secretary, W. B. Corlett; treasurer, C. E. Menzie; directors, G. C. Woods, W. B. Corlett, G. C. Starus, H. J. Robson, L. C. Hivick, W. W. Silk, C. E. Menzie, George Harrington and W. L. Russell.

A committee consisting of W. G. Long and A. A. Little was named to prepare a resolution of thanks to the Young Men's Progressive League for Friday night's entertainment.

A committee on resolutions and by-laws was named, including C. E. Menzie, Louis Campbell, W. L. Russell and G. C. Straus. Ed Short and Martin Rowe were delegates to find a meeting place for the next meeting.

While the purpose of the ogranization is largely social, the movement has a far deeper significance. There are many matters that come up that concern the oil men in a business way and these will be handled by the association as a whole for the benefit of all the members. The idea is one of co-operation and self-protection and of mutual benefit. The spirit of free-masonry which prevails among oil men will give the organization its social and fraternal side and the members say that many "stunts" are in prospect, as occasion arises.

There has been an organization of oil men here previously, in an informal way, but Friday night's gathering was to put in more definite form so that more might be accomplished.

The Guffey's No. 5 on the Miller which was at first reported good for 125 barrels, is declared to be a 300-barreler. This brings the daily production on the Miller tract to about 1100 barrels. Another well is due to reach the sands early next week.

J. Edgar Pew of the Sun Oil Company left the city Friday for Philadelphia to attend the funeral of his uncle, J. N. Pew, president of the Sun Company, who died late Thursday.

W. G. Skelley is in St. Louis to meet Mrs. Skelley and his two daughters and accompany them to this city where they will reside They will occupy rooms in the Walker cottage on Thirteenth street for the present.

The Corsicana's well on the Keowan tract near Burkburnett is past the 1700 foot mark and should be to the depth of the Schmoker sands by the middle of this week.

A well has been brought in on the Badgett farm, three miles west of Electra, so near the Wilbarger county line that it is not certain which county the well is in. The well belongs to the Crescent Oil company and found the the sand at 700 feet. There have been several dry holes to the westward and many of the leases in that direction had been surrendered, but business may pick up around there if the Crescent well shows for any size. It has not yet been put on the pump and its capacity is not yet known. The depth at which the sand was reached makes things look promising.

Some of the local oil men are keeping a watchful eye on the developments around Santa Anna, Brown county, Texas, where natural gas was found recently. There have been a number of wild cat tests in that part of the State and many are now in progress in the San Saba Valley. Oil has been found in small quantities, there being several four and five barrel wells.

The Amarillo Oil and Gas Company has made two new locations, one on the Elliott tract west and north of Petrolia, the other on the Joyce land, where this company brought in a good gasser last month. It is understood that wells will be started very shortly.

O'Hara and Greenlease have started drilling on the Reilly tract south of Burkburnett.

L. P. Hivick's well on the Douglas tract near Electra is good for something between fifty and a hundred barrels. This makes the Douglas begin to look good, even at the fancy prices which some of the leases brought.

The Corsicana has timbers on the ground for a well on the Boddy farm, about four miles north of Mabledean, on the Byers branch of the Valley. The Greenlease well also near Mabledean, is drilling.

The organization of of an Oil Men's Association is to be perfected tomorrow night, following the banquet which the Young Men's Progressive League is to tender the oil men. It is felt that this will be a particularly opportune time to get the oil men together to form this organization.

More than one party of oil men got caught out in the rain earlier in the week and some pretty bedraggled folks came in Tuesday night. Some got stuck in the mud and had to call for the services of Old Beck to get pulled out.

Oil talk has started again. A charter has been issued by the Secretary of State to the Providential Oil Co. of Vernon with a capital of $100,000. The Vernon Gas & Oil Co., who own the Starr lease, are negotiating a sale, but at present not consummated, also an unconfirmed report is that the White lease is abou tto be sold. We are also infomred that a party expects to begin operation about Nov. 15 on two wells. We expect soon to have something definite to give out, but at present the talk about the situation is mere hear-say.—Vernon Call.

Navy to Own an Oil Field

The United States navy is to have for its exclusive use an oil field in California, from which it will obtain fuel for its oil burning fighting ships. President Taft has withdrawn thirty-seven thousand acres of oil lands in the west side oil fields.

Investigation begun two years ago at the suggestion o fthe Navy Department brought about this reservation of oil lands in California Of the fifty-eight sections in the withdrawn area 50 per cent is undisputed public land. Thirty per cent has been patented to the Southern Pacific Railway and others.

News was received here last night of the death in Philadelphia of J. N. Pew, president of the Sun Oil Company, the Linden Oil Company and the Sun Pipe Line Company and actively associated with oil interests throughout the country for many years. He was about 70 years of age. He was an uncle of J. Edgar Pew of Beaumont, who looks after the Sun interests in Texas and received the tidings while in the city last night. The deceased was one of the best known oil men in the country, having very extensive interests. He organized the People's Gas Company in Philadelphia, one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country.

The Guffey late yesterday brought in its sixth good producer on the Miller tract, the well being its No. 5, which is an offset to No. 5 on the Bickley. The well flowed from the 12 1-2 inch casing and is thought to be good for better than one hundred barrels. It tapped the 1000 foot sands. From the six wells it has drilled in on the Miller tract, the Guffey is getting about 900 barrels daily.

Local oil men who visited the Crescent Company's well on the Badgett farm near the Wilbarger county line yesterday, report that there is a good showing of oil, but that it is not a well yet. Considerable interest is being manifested in the new developments there as a result of the good showing in the Badgett well.

CONFESSION OF MAN WHO SHOT ROOSEVELT

Q.—Did you ever meet Czolgosz or know him in his lifetime?

A.—No, sir; no sir.

Q.—Did you know John Most when he was alive?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you ever hear him talk?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you hear Emma Goldman?

A.—No, sir, I am not an anarchist or Socialist or Democrat or Republican; I just took up the thing I thought it was best to do.

Q.—You are not a member of any party?

A.—No, sir. I thought there should be an example of the third term if it should exist any longer. Mr. Grant was refused and he was satisfied. This man was refused and he is not satisfied. It's gone beyond limits. If he keeps on doing this after election he can't possibly carry a solid Western State. The next thing we will have a civil war, because he will say "the scoundrels and thieves and crooks stole my nomination and now they will steal my election," and they will take up arms in all the Western States. We are facing a civil war just to keep him in a third term, in an illegitimate place.

Q.—Where did you get all this idea from?

A.—I have been reading history all the time.

Q.—You don't find that anywhere in history that they stole his nomination and going to steal his election.

A.—I don't have to read that in history. You must know in the Chicago convention it was in every paper where everybody could read it.

Q.—You read it in the paper then?

A.—He says it every time he speaks.

WELL DESERVED.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Wichita Falls People

One kidney remedy never fails.
Wichita Falls people rely upon it
That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.
Wichita Falls testimony proves it always reliable.

C. C. Willard, 1922 Eighth street, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for two years. At that time I suffered constantly from my back and kidneys. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Harrington's Drug Store and although other remedies had failed, Doan's Kidney Pills effected a permanent cure. Although I was never laid up, never the less every move I made sent sharp twinges through my back. I am all over that now and never tire recommending Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given December 9, 1910).

ROSENTHAL'S WIDOW ON WITNESS STAND

"It Had to Be Herman or Me" She Testified Accused Police Lieutenant Said

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct 16.—Mrs Herman Rosenthal testified today against Police Lieutenant Becker. Without show of emotion, she told her story In the recital she said that eBcker told her "it had to be Herman or me"

This was when the "strong-arm squad" at Becker's command, raided her husband's gambling place and home, she said.

"Tell Herman that debt is square" she said Becker told her.

"He doesn't owe me now of that $1500 I loaned him."

The first time she saw eBcker, Mrs. Rosenthal said, the police lieutenant placed his arm about her husband's neck, and said to her, "I would do anything, day or night, for Heran."

When she testified she had hardly money enough to bury her husband. she faltered, but quickly recovered and continued her testimony.

BAYLOR VOTES AGAINST RETURN OF SALOONS

Special to the Times.

Seymour, Texas, Oct. 12.—Baylor county citizens by an overwhelming vote today rejected a proposal to permit the return of the liquor traffic to this county. With thirteen out of the fifteen voting boxes in the county, and the two missing boxes unimportant ones, the returns give the pros a lead of 308 votes. Only one of the boxes in the county gave its votes for the return of the saloons. The vote of thirteen boxes reported is, Pro, 607; Anti, 299. Seymour box gave a strong pro vote it being 245 for prohibition against 132 anti.

BIG CIRCUS CROWD WAS ORDERLY ONE

Wichita Falls yesterday entertained one of the largest crowds this city has ever seen, as a result of the circus. While accurate figures as to the number of visitors are not available it is believed there were from six to ten thousand out-of-town folks in the city.

There were automobile parties from points as far distant as 100 miles, with thousands of others coming in wagons from lesser distance. The trains added their hundreds to the throng. From both directions on the Denver and from the other roads, extra carloads of visitors were brought here. This was the only point in this section where the circus stopped and it afforded the best opportunity to see it.

It was a well-behaved crowd and there were few reports of misbehavior and still fewer of accidents. Nine men who had mixed whiskey with their circus paid fines in the city court this morning and there were also a few in Justice Brothers' court. If the "dips" and crooks who usually follow a circus were on hand here, there are comparatively few evidences of their work.

All the hotels were crowded last night and even as late as this morning, it was no child's task to get a meal at a restaurant. Had it not been for the hamburger stands and similar temporary eating establishments, the problem of feeding the visitors might have been a serious one

The crowds was a good-natured one, as usual with a circus throng and the inconveniences to which it was subjected were considered lightly. Local merchants all report an excellent trade, there being many among the visitors who combined business with pleasure.

THE SHAM OF IT

By Savoyard

When the ever charming Viola of Shakespeare's fine comedy received the challenge to a duel the mischievous Sir Toby Belch, after long persuasion, induced Sir Andrew Aguecheek to send her deceived by her garb into thinking her of the masculine gender, she said "I am one that had rather go with sir priest than sir knight." As a public man it looks like Col Roosevelt goes with sir saint or sir boss as the time and place require. Enrolled with him is Mr Gifford Pinchot, who, all of us and the rest of mankind are agreed, is made of extra good clay, so far as concerns his patriotism. Emphatically he is sir saint at Roosevelt's Armageddon, battling for the Lord. Now, there is Bill Flinn. He, too, is a soldier of Armageddon—Roosevelt's Armageddon. Now, it is not conclevable that Pinchot would march through Coventry with Bill Flinn; but, Roosevelt is delighted with his Pittsburg boss and has declared him to be thoroughly reformed and completely regenerated in every particular. You see, Flinn expended of his own money $99,384.18 to secure the Pennsylvania delegation in the regular republican convention at Chicago last summer for Roosevelt. That patriotic act has made him as pure a politician and as stout a "Christian soldier" at Armageddon as the best of 'em.

Under oath before the United States senate committee Mr Flinn made a breezy witness. Ages ago good men were admonished that he would eat soup with the devil should have a long ladle. This Mr. Flinn undertook to play the game of politics with Matt Quay Whether his ladle was long or short, he boasts that he gold bricked the greatest of the bosses. He admitted having written an agreement in January, 1896, under which Senator Quay, J. O. Brown and himself proposed to divide the federal local patronage in Pennsylvania, but he did not sign it or intend to sign the pact All he was after was to allay Senator Quay's opposition to the republican candidate for mayor of Pittsburg.

Lord Sandwich was the most odious character of his time. Do you know how he earned his infamy? He and Wilkes were members of the scandalous "Hellfire Club." And Sandwich it was who, having the utmost confidence of his fellow miscreant, betrayed the authorship of the vile "Essay on Woman." It was a gold brick and from that day Sandwich was outlawed from the society of every decent man in Europe.

But Mr. Flinn of gold brick notoriety, is become a leader and a captain at Roosevelt's hand made Armageddon!

Suppose there was a single man with the record of Mr. Flinn in the management of Woodrow Wilson's campaign, what a thrill of horror would possess the Christian soldiers led by Mr. Flinn, Mr. George W. Perkins, Mr. Tim Woodruff, Mr. Cecil Lyon, the Abernathy kids and that set! But Roosevelt is not to be adjudged by the universally accepted rules of good sense or the generally accepted canons of good morals. Here is one example. When Taft was trying to get reciprocity with Canada, Roosevelt indorsed it and went a great deal further. He announced himself as in favor of absolute free trade with Canada. When he was running against Taft for the republican nomination for president, a few months later, he everywhere denounced Taft for his efforts to secure Canadian reciprocity. When he was president of the United States he insisted on appointment of negroes to office in the cotton states; but he got the absurd notion in his noggin that he had a chance to carry one or more of those states, and he proclaims that he is not only opposed to southern negroes holding office, but he is opposed to their voting at all!

Nor does Theodore Roosevelt have any respect for the accepted obligations of truthful speech—a God-given virtue In Missouri, at Joplin, he hurled this mendacity at his audience

"If you would know what boss domination did for the people of Baltimore, think for a moment of what happened to Champ Clark. The bosses didn't want him nominated. They wanted another candidate, and they got him by overriding the vote of the people. It was as willful a disregard of the voters as was evidenced in the republican convention in Chicago The nomination at Baltimore belonged to Mr Clark but the bosses handed it over to Mr. Wilson'

At Baltimore there were over a thousand delegates to the national inquest of the democratic party; there were as many active, vigilant, intelligent newspaper men there, of all politics and from all quarters; there were thousands of intelligent visitors there—every state represented among them—and there was not one intelligent man there who does not know, and not an honest man there who will not say, that what Roosevelt uttered in the foregoing has not a word of truth in it to preserve it from infamy

A man to resort to such contemptible self-abasement as Roosevelt did at Joplin wants the presidency mighty bad. It is a big office, but it might be gained at too big a price.

Like master, like man Roosevelt put in his platform something about the minimum wage for women—something that every intelligent man knows about. It is not his province. Wilson will have none of such foolishness, and the Washington Times, the property and one of the organs of Munsey of the steel trust, has this to say about it'

"Mr. Hearst's characterization of Wilson as 'a pedagogue who has theories on everything and experience in nothing, may be amplified by saying, that the candidate who opposes a proposition to enable women to earn a living honorably entertains theories which are even more dangerous than his lack of experience."

Mr. Wilson knows the president can not fix the wages of women—so do Roosevelt and the Washington Times. Mr. Wilson knows that no government can fix the wages of women, or men, so that the thing will work beneficently—so do Roosevelt and the Washington Times.

And that is not all Wilson knows. He knows one way and a very good way, to advantage American women is to reduce the tariff so that American women can buy sewing machines as cheap as they are sold to alien women; but Roosevelt and the Washington Times say we can not get along without a protective tariff, and so say the corporations that make sewing machines. Hence the American woman is taxed $12 every time she buys a sewing machine.

Wilson knows another way to benefit American women is to take the tariff of spool cotton so that the poor seamstress may buy each spool for a cent and a half less than she now pays So do Roosevelt and the Washington Times know it; but they love protection in the tariff more than they love the American woman in her poverty.

Oh, the sham of it!

RICH FABRICS AND DRAPERIES Make Evening Wraps Costly

The Peg-Top Wrap a New Paris Arrival

Skunk Effectively Combined with Gold Brocade

Yards of Heavy Cording on the Paris Wraps

A Flounce and Lining of Chiffon on this Brocade Wrap

The New Hat Plume Winds Around the Neck

Severe Helmet Hats Accompany Evening Costumes

New Sleeveless Wraps Like Huge, Inflated Bags--Intricate Daaperies Beyond the Effort of the Home Dressmaker--Smart Three-Quarter Cloth Wraps for Afternoon Wear.

IF THERE is one thing lovelier than the modern evening gown it is the modern wrap And the average woman looks more charming in her evening wrap than in the gown —be it ever so handsome for not every figure is perfect not even skin satiny white and firm as marble not every carriage graceful The voluminous wrap covers up all defects in these lines and is in itself so graceful so distinguished and beautiful in coloring that it endows the wearer with a distinction and [illegible] ness which frequently she does not lack at all

Everybody who has stood outside the awning stretched across a pavement at some fashionable evening entertainment knows how fascinatingly beautiful all the women look as they pass quickly over the carpet and up the steps into the house First a dainty little foot clad in a captivating satin slipper or perhaps a little boot high heeled and with gleaming buttons emerges from the carriage or limousine Then comes the bent head of the stooping figure the exquisitely dressed coiffure also gleaming with a scintillating ornament Then a slender figure—it looks slender wrapped in the rich soft folds of the rich fur trimmed wrap—flashes past the opening in the awning and vanishes tantalizingly into the place of lights and flower perfumes and soft music Not a doubt but that some of those silk and fur wrapped figures seen in the glare of the dressing room lights within will turn out to be over forty with thickened waistlines prominent collar bones and artificial tresses though in their soft gaseous wraps —in the shadow of the awning the beauty of houris seems to be theirs

Brocaded Velvets and Satins High in Favor

At least half of the winter evening wraps are of brocaded material Some of the velvets with raised brocade pattern are superb and such a wrap bordered with sable skunk or ermine is almost as expensive as one made entirely of fur Quantities of material are used, also in these new wraps—the straight narrow garment is no more and a modern wrap of the figure resembles nothing so much as a huge, inflated bag with slashes cut at the sides for the arms When the wrap is on the yards and yards of rich fabric fall in lines of elegance and grace but the cut of these wraps is hopelessly beyond the ken of the ordinary dressmaker for despite its bagginess and its fulness the wrap must take on certain prescribed lines and these lines in combination with the voluminous folds require a skillful hand in the cutting it may well be believed No matter how full it is at the front the back of the wrap must fall straight as a plumb line from neck to heels and the folds must sweep forward and upward giving a long sloping flowing effect from the bust to the back of the knees Viewed from any angle, also, the wrap must appear narrow and tapering at the foot so that the lines of the gown and the little booted feet may just show

Peg Top Wraps the Paris Craze Now

The peg top wrap expresses this idea of voluminous folds and tapering lines in striking style One of these wraps is pictured in the white brocaded satin model with trimming of white fox The wrap is exceedingly full sleeves the shoulders and outstretched arms but tapers hardly in ward below the knee When the arms are dropped the fullness falls in long graceful folds which do not however interfere in the least with the narrow effect at the foot This wrap comes from Cellot Soeurs whose evening wraps are without rivals for beauty and charm The Cellot wrap is built of white satin brocade lined with silvered lilac chiffon over pale pink satin The band of black velvet caught at the left hip with a pearl ornament gives an emphatic and individual touch Bands of snow white fox fur border the bottom of the wrap and the sleeves This beautiful white wrap accompanies a white gown worn with buttoned boots of white suede and the white aigrette in the hair is worn in the present modish fashion a pearl comb being thrust across the front of the coiffure in the effect of a bandeau All evening hair dressings are high just now and rarely is the hair unadorned aigrettes shell combs and pins jeweled birds and silk flowers being the favorite ornaments

Pannier Wraps Give the Fashionable Baggy Effect

Another authoritative Paris evening wrap is pictured in the Francis model of brocaded silk This wrap it will be observed is cut together with pipings of the material over thick cable cord and the wrap is in pannier style a draped upper portion falling over a closely drawn flounce which wraps around the knees and curves upward to form the front panel The deep yoke of this wrap is interesting for these yokes are now very smart though one cannot say that they are as graceful as the more voluminous effects The Francis wrap is built of changeable rose colored silk with raised velvet brocade flowers in pale buff The puffed sleeve with low shoulder and the shirring over cords are novel and interesting details

The Murillo wrap is another Paris fancy and one of these wraps from Martial and Armand forms part of a November trousseau The Murillo wrap is enormously full over the shoulders and a long fold of the material is looped loosely to form a deep hood which hangs below the hips at the back At the front the folds are drawn upward and forward and caught under a double clasp of dull silver studded with coral This wrap is of geranium colored velvet lined with white satin the white satin showing in the deep loop at the back under a dull gold clasp at the left hip

Mantle Wraps For Bridge Wear

There are very smart three-quarter wraps designed for afternoon wear in taxi or limousine these wraps being built of light-colored cloth or silken fabric with trimmings of braid cord or shirred puffings A cape of this kind made of gold colored bengaline with bands of box pleated chiffon over cording was worn last week over a smart bridge costume of tobacco brown draped over with a tunic of embroidered crepe de chine also in the brown tone Brown satin boots with bronze buttons and Louis heels accompanied the costume, which was made complete by a hat of brown bengaline trimmed with shaded plumes The smart bridge gown is always accompanied by a handsome hat and in the hands is carried a reticule or gold purse for handkerchief small pencil for score keeping and perhaps one's winnings

Another bridge wrap of white cloth is trimmed with white loops and buttons and has a collar of the orange fox which Poiret has brought into fashion

A talk about evening wraps would be incomplete without some mention of the fetching shoulder wraps for wear over light frocks at the theatre or at the restaurant There are delectable chiffon scarves bordered with fur and one of these scarves—of smoke gray chiffon over pale yellow with a border of smoked fox—was noted at Sherry's the other night The evening was so warm that the lovely little garment had been donned evidently because it was a new Paris acquisition too enchanting to be left at home and not at all because fur was needed for warmth But then warmth is now the secondary consideration where furs are concerned In Paris fur wearables have been abroad all summer long custom and propriety to the contrary notwithstanding Parasols trimmed with ermine were a feature of the race meets all through June and July and at Trouville in August the cool sea breezes are made the excuse for all sorts of fascinating fur wearables

Flaming Wraps Now the Grand Chic

There is a decided fancy for red riding hood evening wraps just at the moment and a good proportion of the Paris models are in geranium flame or a new deep toned red called dahlia which is enormously fashionable These brilliant wraps are of course exceedingly striking but one or two of them in an ensemblage of fainter tints are very pleasing What the effect will be if flame and geranium wraps become the craze over here one cannot say—and does not like to think but the wise woman who may possess but one—or at most two evening wraps—had best refrain from putting a large sum of money into a brilliant red garment

Fur and Chiffon Popular Trimmings

If one can afford it fur is the trimming—of a surety—selected for the evening wrap Nothing is so alluringly becoming as a soft fur collar against the bare neck and shoulders and fur lends a decided suggestion of elegance to a simple wrap Chiffon is however a modish substitute and an illustration gives an idea of how effectively chiffon may be used The wrap in question is a Doucet model of plum and rose pink velvet brocade the chiffon being in shades of gray and mauve shirred thickly to produce a rich heavy effect The wrap is lined also with pale mauve chiffon tiny gold and silver roses in clusters being added here and there by way of trimming The huge tassels are of dull gold and hang from tarnished gold cords

The fur trimmed wrap is by Beer and is a new yoke model of gold and green brocade with green and gold cord and tassels A skunk collar and cuffs tone down the brilliant coloring of the wrap Another Beer wrap of green plush has a panel of gold lace down the back outlined with bands of skunk and an enormous collar of the skunk falls over the shoulder and forms a single revers caught matches a sweet little dancing gown of pink chiffon and shadow lace, the little theatre affair and is made of the sheerest eyelet embroidery in a faint cerise tone mounted over the thinnest pale blue silk All around the edge goes a border of Australian chinchilla fur the combination of fur and eyelet embroidery being particularly new and striking Embroideries are very fashionable just now and the finer sorts are being introduced generously into winter costumes in the way of collars guimpes vests, flounces and similar details

The hats pictured are two new models too interesting to pass by One is a helmet affair with a tall wired plume slanted across the back The other shows the new knee length ostrich feather which falls over the brim of the hat and is worn twisted around the throat as the photograph shows, or hanging straight down the back white marabout and lined with lace being looped up with pink and mauve silk roses Buttoned pink satin boots have been ordered for this dancing costume and long gloves of pale pink silk with rosebud embroideries on the wrist, will meet the short lace sleeves

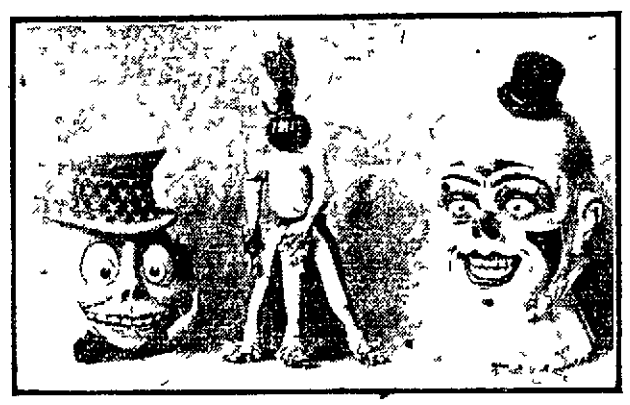
The second wrap is an enchanting shirred pale pink chiffon The wrap

Frolicsome Favors for HALLOWE'EN



NOT everybody who gaily ducks for apples on the last night of October, or roasts chestnuts in the ashes or goes down cellar eating an apple and holding a handglass is aware that he or she is perpetuating customs hundreds and hundreds of years old On the first of November the ancient Druids clad in white built bonfires to propitiate Samain an important god among the Celts and later torches from the common fire were carried to light the domestic fires on the hearths As long as the fire was kept burning good luck was supposed to attend the house As late as our own Revolutionary time the custom of carrying torches from a bonfire to the home hearth prevailed among the rustics in the north of England

In Wales a bonfire is kindled by each family on the eve of the first of November and white stones marked with individual initials are tossed into the embers In the morning a search is made through the ashes for the marked stones and woe to the member of the family whose stone is not to be found The rites connected with fires are Celtic in origin those pertaining to nuts apples or other fruits are Roman The black cats and witches are borrowed from old Irish superstitions As time went on the old religious and superstitious sentiments about the eve of the first of November or Hallowe'en lost their significance until today the festival is one of fun and frolic only

The more ghost and ghostly decorations at the Hallowe'en party the better The ghost should be terrifyingly sepulchral figure and may stand in the center of the supper table or peer out from a shadowy corner of the entrance hall All lights but ghostly lights must be dispensed with—that is an essential part of the fun and if actual skull lanterns are not obtainable pumpkin lanterns or yellow paper lanterns with black splashes for eyes nose and mouth will give a very mellow and mysterious Hallowe'en glimmer

To make a properly sepulchral phantom for the entrance hall take the tallest piano lamp in the house and drape it gracefully with sheets to simulate ghostly garments First tie a crosspiece of wood—a broom handle will do nicely—across the top of the lamp standard just beneath the globe This will represent the outstretched arms On the ends of these wooden arms fasten old white kid gloves stuffed with bran Two sheets will make a correctly ghostly drapery and the ghost should be made to look as tall and slim as possible even if the lamp has to be mounted on a high stool From the ghost's head a pale and luminous glow should radiate The glass globe must be entirely hidden under a ghost head made of white or yellow crepe paper gathered over a wire frame On the paper head, features cut from untranspARent paper are pasted—huge slanting white paper eyes with black eyeballs two round nostrils and a wide mouth turned up or down at the corners

The apple paring rite is a favorite Hallowe'en diversion Each guest is given a large red apple and a sharp knife and the object is to pare around and around the apple so that the skin is removed in one piece The long strip of paring is then tossed over the shoulder while this incantation is chanted

Apple apple tell to me
What my true loves name will be

It is always easy to guess some sort of initial from the position of the apple paring on the floor Three throws will determine the three initials of the future beloved one

The chestnut roasting rite is always good fun when several people are sitting around an open fire One of the company places two chestnuts on the coals one chestnut being named for a young man or girl and the other for the individual making the test If the nuts burn evenly and remain together the future married pair will live as contented an happy as Darby and Joan but if one or both of the nuts dance about jump away or perhaps leap into the fire it will be an omen that such a marriage could not possibly be happy and another partner had better be selected

Whatever else is omitted the Hallowe'en cake should be a feature of the entertainment In the big cake are hidden the customary ring thimble pencil coin button etc These are supposed to portray to the recipients a happy married life spinsterhood a literary career an artistic one wealth bachelorhood and so on The hostess may add other symbols as her fancy and her knowledge of her young guests dictate

For the Hallowe'en luncheon or bridge party there are multitudes of new favors Each year the collection seems to grow more interesting and more ghostly and symbolical One finds the familiar witch black cat pumpkin lantern vegetable man and ghost head and there are many new favors a few of which are pictured today The gourd figures seem particularly appropriate and seasonable One photograph shows a gourd lantern with transparent eyes and teeth. With this lantern is a new black velvet pussy with a most engaging expression of countenance and a wide open red mouth Pussy's head comes off and inside is a receptacle for candy Three Hallowe'en bonbon favors are shown in the clown and Brownie heads and the funny corn husk maiden with a small tomato head Funniest of all the favors however are Herr Gourd and his bride whose anatomy and drapery suggests a grape vine though her head is a pale green shade over a wire lantern frame
